In this ever-changing world, we have many hopes...

that each day will bring us new challenges . . .

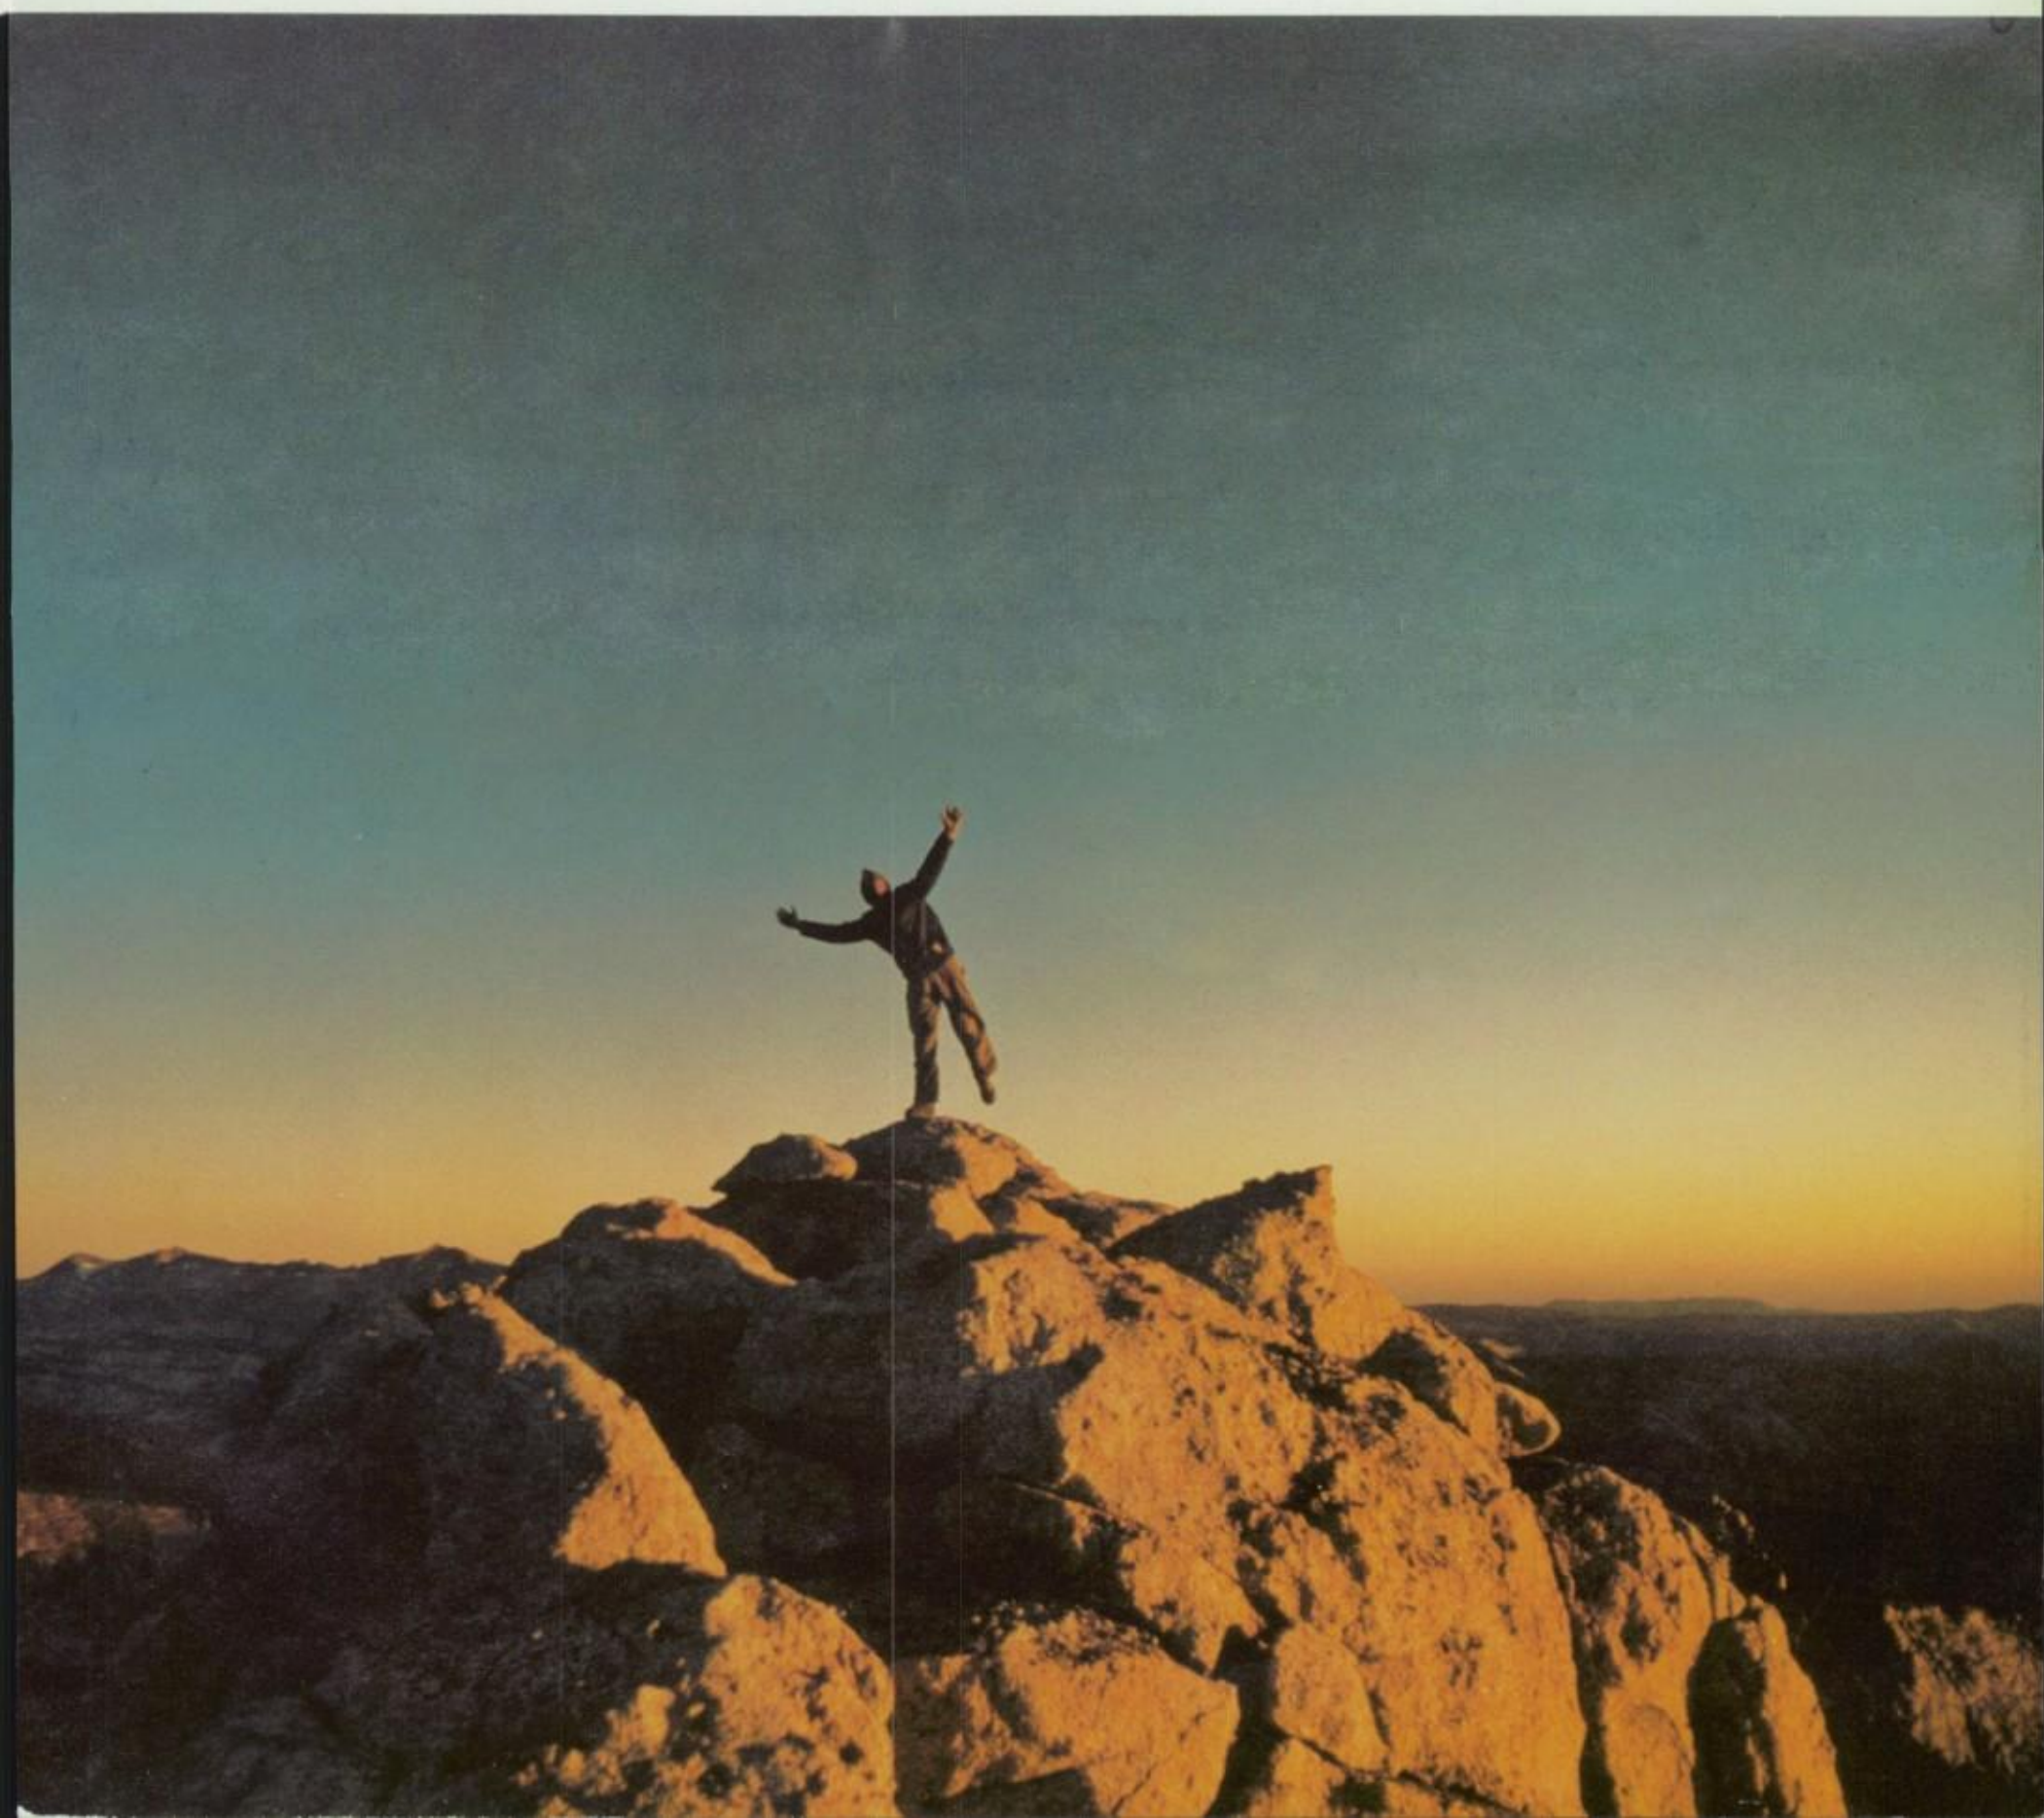

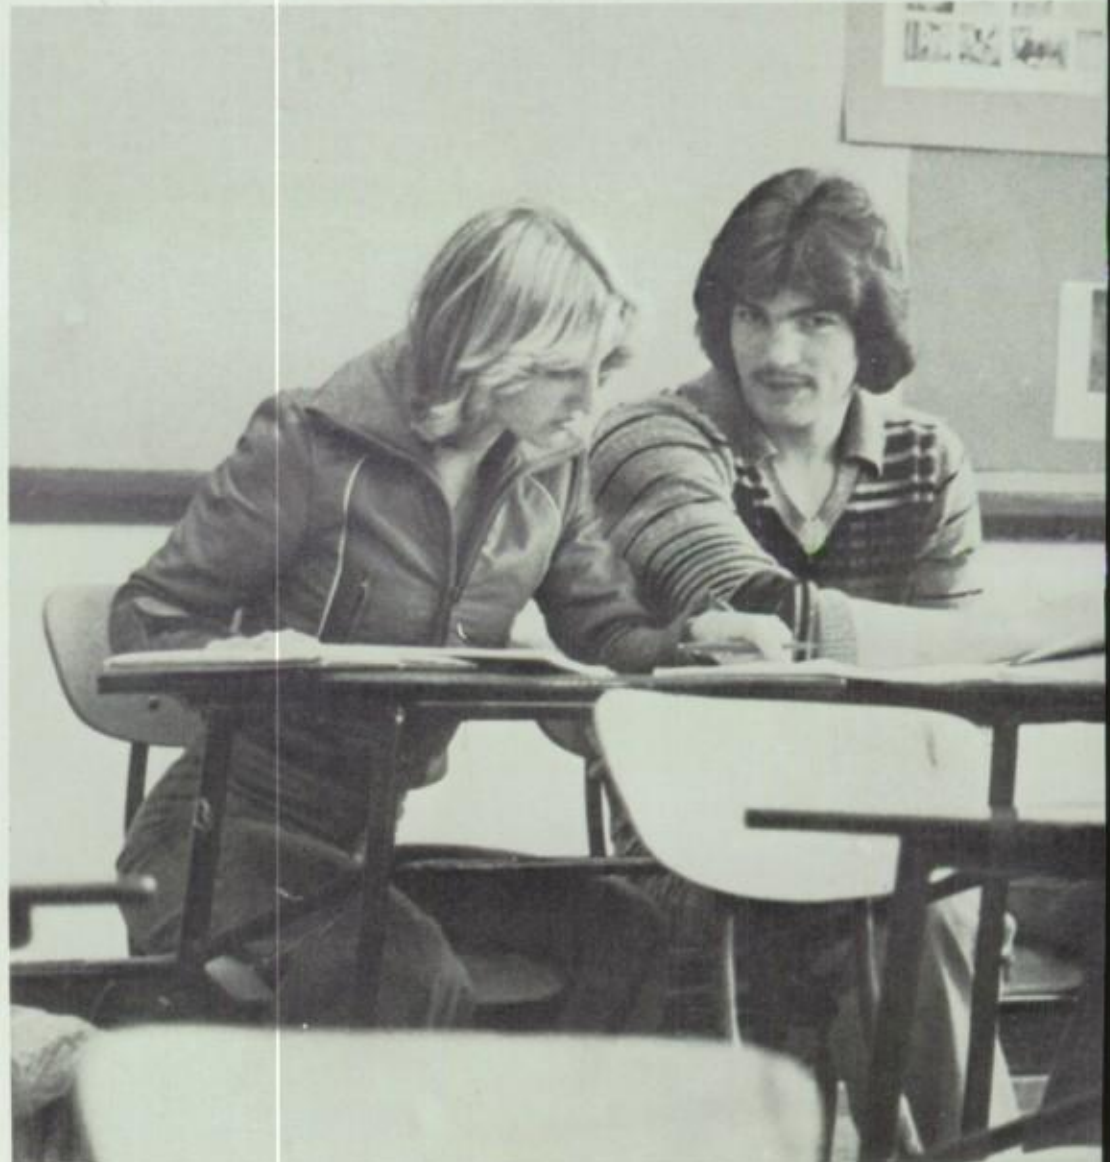

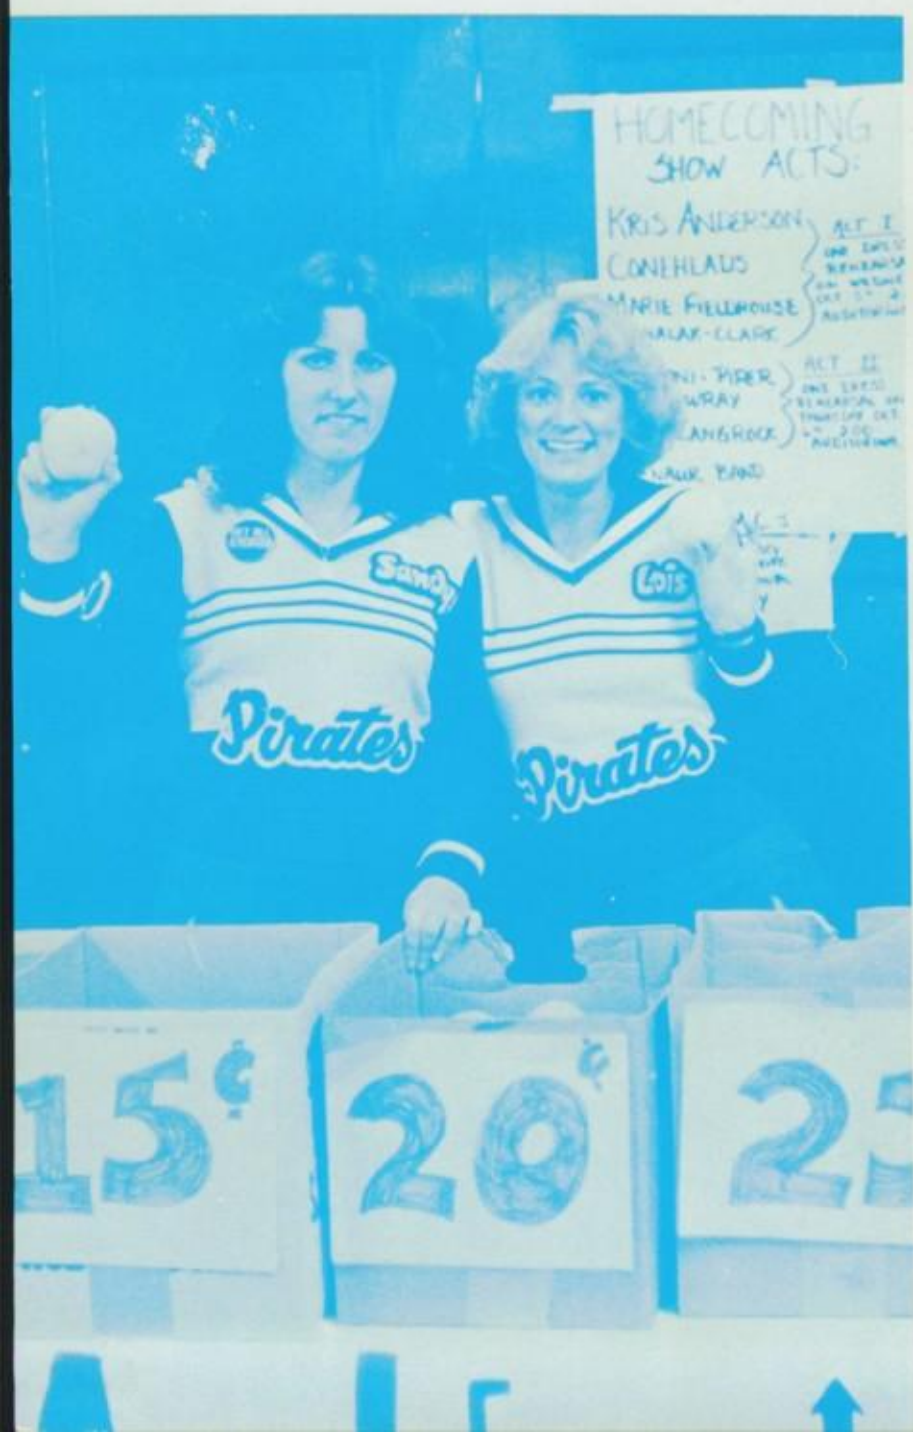

...and ideas,

that we may set
and achieve certain goals for ourselves,

that the distance between us may lessen...

...and
create unity
among us.

Essential to our understanding of the world is the realization that each individual plays an important part in our society.

CURRICULUM

Mr. Ken Teller
Mr. Tom Sawyer
Mr. Roger Reimer

Big three gains new member

The Highline administration has always been noted for its strong leadership in the past and this year is no exception. Mr. Ken Teller, principal, not only worked to keep Highline at its best academically, but also concentrated on bringing the school and the community closer together. He achieved this closer bond by informing the public of school activities.

Replacing Mr. Dave Alfred was Mr. Tom Sawyer, vice-principal. Mr. Sawyer did an outstanding job by keeping extremely fair and strict discipline, making Highline an even better school.

Leading all social activities was Mr. Roger Reimer, assistant principal. He was responsible for organizing all student related activities at Highline, and, as usual, he did a terrific job again this year.

These members of our administration, were three reasons for a successful year.

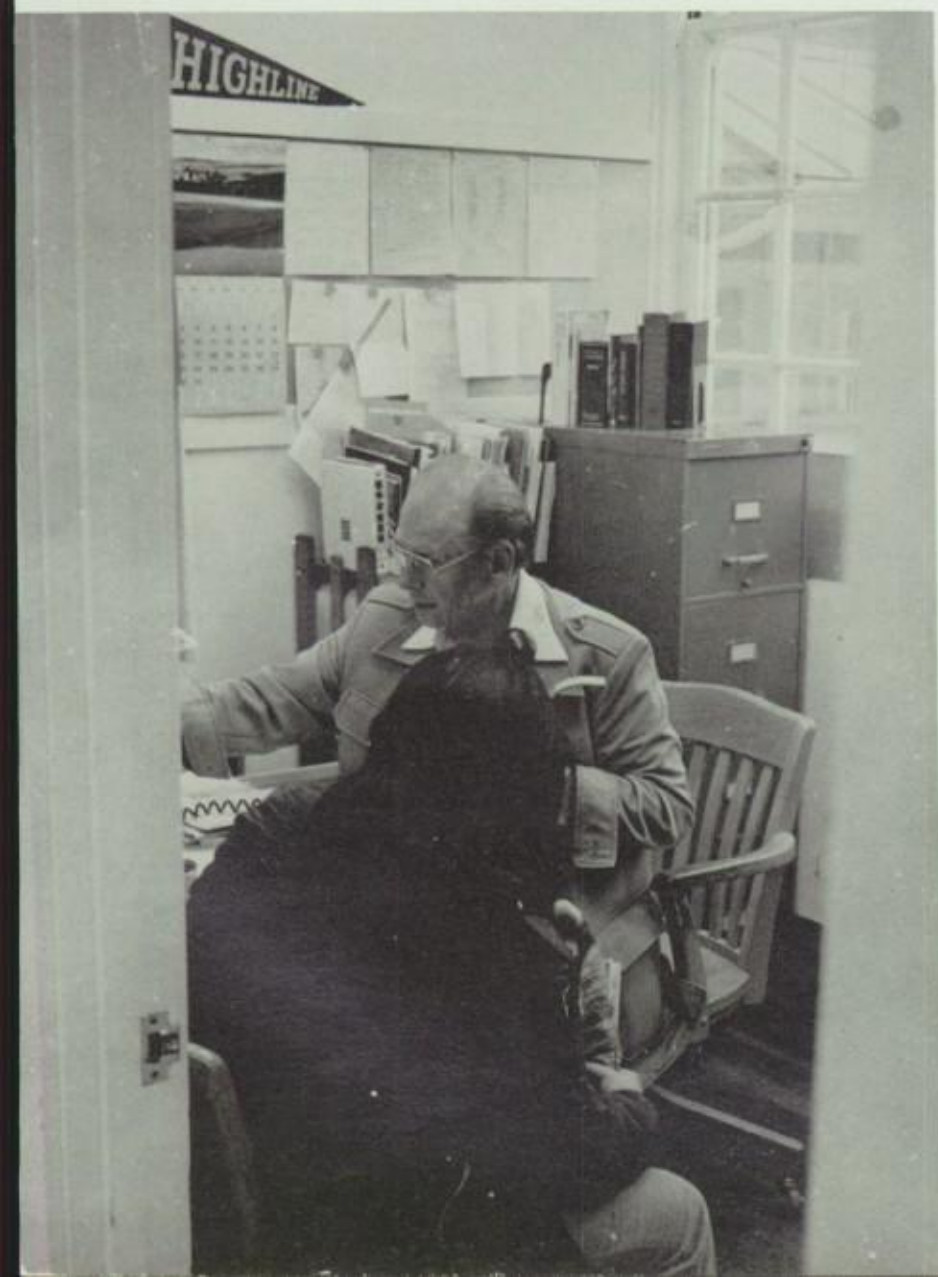

Counselors provide career guidance

Devoting their time to the needs of students, the counselors played an important role at Highline this year. Making up the counseling staff were Mr. Ken Crossman, sophomore counselor; Mrs. Mary Wining, junior counselor; and Mr. Bert Williams, senior counselor. Mrs. Patricia Burgess worked in the career center two days a week, counseling students in career choices.

The counselors' main job was to help each student register in the proper classes and to make sure that each senior graduated with future plans in mind. They gave a great deal of personal counseling to those students who needed it. They not only helped students with family and personal problems, but also with relations with their teachers. The most important job of the counselors was to prepare Highline students for college and a career, so that they could leave Highline ready to face the challenges of life.

Secretaries lend a helping hand

Working behind the scenes at Highline was a group of excellent secretaries. In the main office, Mrs. Dena Pounds and Mrs. Sandi Williams kept and updated all records and files and answered innumerable phone calls. In addition to these responsibilities, Mrs. Williams acted as bookkeeper and registration secretary. It was her job to see that all students were registered in the proper classes.

Mrs. Lillian Mickelson kept busy in the attendance office keeping track of all the students. Her responsibilities as attendance secretary included secretarial work for vice-principal Mr. Tom Sawyer.

Each Monday the school nurse, Mrs. Norma Jensen, came to Highline. Before the year was over, she saw to it that each student had hearing and eye tests.

The dedicated work of the school secretaries helped to make this a fine year.

Multi-media center

Highline has undergone many changes this year. Some of these changes could be seen in the school's academic center, the library.

Working to keep the shelves stocked with enough books to support our curriculum were Miss Carol Nightingale and Mrs. Audrey Bickford. They assisted the students and teachers in locating materials and using the library facilities.

In the resource room Mrs. Pat Englund provided the extra attention for students who were falling behind in their studies and needed special help.

Another special program was handled by Mrs. Janelle McGee, who conducted a full time special ed. program for a limited number of students.

Cooks and Custodians keep pirate ship afloat

Most likely not one of the five to six hundred students who buy school lunches every day knows of the work that goes into each day's meal. The head cook, Ruth Feil, starts each day at 5:30 a.m., preparing the menu for the day. The rest of the staff, Eleanor Thompson, Phyllis Dettler, Sally Rendon, Myrtle West, Mary Ellis, and Eunice Boardman, arrive at approximately 8 a.m. The staff of cooks prepares meals not only for Highline High School, but also for Sunnyside and Normandy Park elementary schools. Highline is fortunate to have such excellent cooks.

When the school bell rang at 1:50 every day, it meant the end of another day of work for students, but for our custodians, the work had just begun. With the reduced custodial staff this year, there was extra work for everyone. The staff included Fred Daiberl, head custodian, Richard Rifely, Helen Walker, Dan Colgan, Bob Medley, Fred Smith, Mike Blaine, and Al Brownlow. This year, as every year, our custodians played an important part in the school by keeping it clean and healthy.

Home Ec moves with the times

Home and Family Life Education has developed to meet the changing needs of students swept up in the changing roles of today's society.

Students found opportunities in the many course offerings to explore role changes and relationships, and a chance to get to know and understand children and themselves by working with kindergarteners.

More interest was displayed in nutrition, especially nutrition for athletes, and weight reduction without falling prey to food fads and fallacies. Still there was time for creative meal planning and clothing construction. To help with the increasing problem of inflation, money management and consumer education were stressed throughout the year.

Mrs. Virginia Pleasants did an excellent job in preparing students for life after highschool.

Developing quality communication

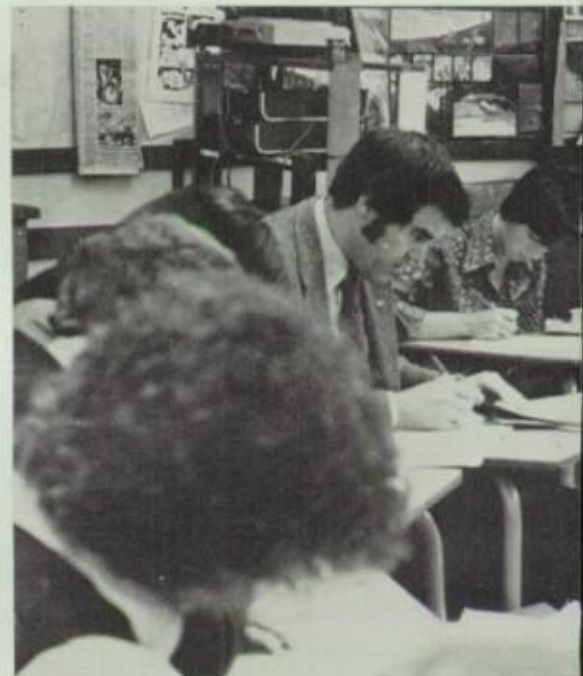

The National Council of Teachers of English recognized Highline's English department with a commendation for excellence in its instructional program as revealed in the high quality of writing it evidenced. Michelle Ham was one of 14 students in Washington state to be chosen as a winner in competition among 7000 other students.

As a result of the levy failure, the English department lost many of the fine courses offered in previous years. Despite this setback, excellence in teaching staff and class offerings was maintained. Whether preparing for college or a vocation, Highline students showed a definite concern for choosing courses which were more challenging. For instance, a larger number of students chose advanced writing courses this year than in previous years.

The English program, headed by Mrs. Melba McConaughy, had a very successful year.

Art program inspires new talent

Helping our art students better express and develop their ideas and talents, Miss Ann Brown and Miss Jean Wendell had a very busy year at Highline. Although Miss Brown taught one history class, she was also in charge of the crafts department. In this class the students worked with pottery, jewelry, batik, stitchery and macrame. Miss Wendell taught both arts and crafts.

The fine arts department consisted of three different sections: drawing, sculpture, and painting. With the inspiration of Miss Brown and Miss Wendell, this year's art students were able to develop their skills to a much higher level.

Shop emphasizes vocational skills

Under the instruction of Mr. Gene Bertino, many of Highline's students displayed their abilities to work in wood shop and technical drawing.

The technical drawing class learned techniques of graphic communications. This skill is used in designing houses, office buildings, shopping malls, airplanes, and many other useful objects.

Students completed many different projects in wood shop. Starting from beginning projects such as cutting boards, bowls, checker boards, and stash boxes, they moved to the more advanced projects: water bed frames, butcher block tables, cabinets, and water skis.

Mr. Earl Moritz taught auto shop, a popular class, and Mr. Dave Stark instructed students in electronics.

These classes provided students with vocational education necessary for college and careers.

Talents develop through music program

This year, Highline continued to offer an outstanding music program, despite cutbacks in classes. Mr. Alan Lund directed the Concert Choir, a group of more than 50 members, and the 30 voice New Madrigal Singers. Assisting Mr. Lund during the first semester was student teacher Mr. Gordon Gray. Mr. Lund also taught music at Glacier High School during the second half of the day.

Mr. James Blake directed the Concert Band, the Symphonic Band, and the Jazz Ensemble, which featured 25 talented musicians. They provided excellent music for assemblies, concerts, and other school events.

Past and present compared for students

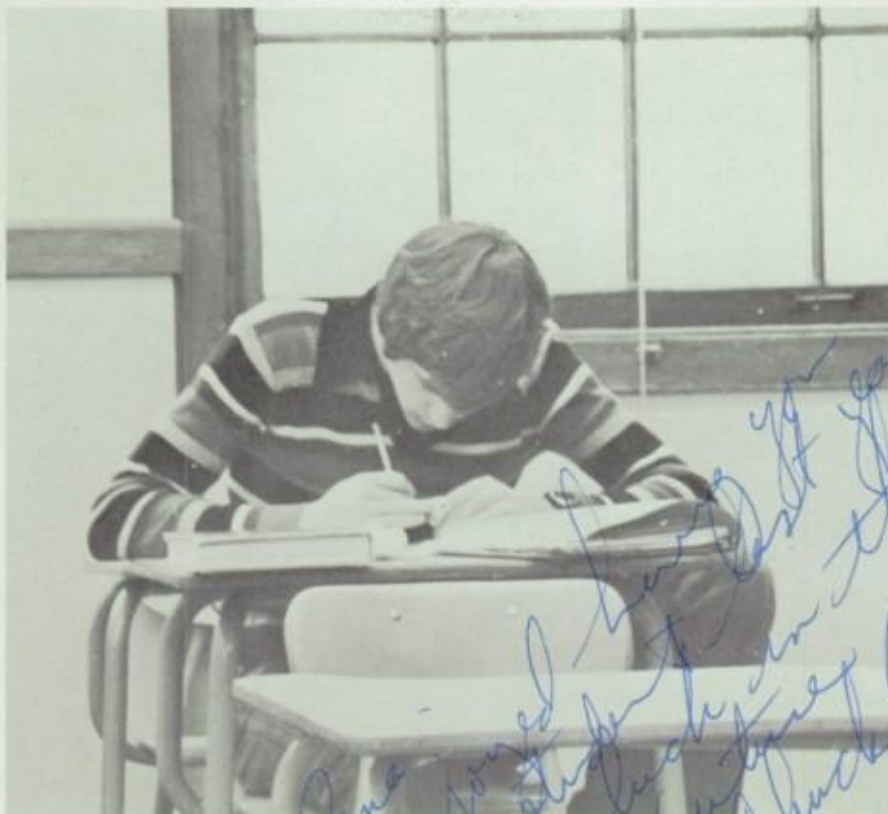

History never changes although it is constantly in the making. This year's history curriculum involved basic history classes including Culture and Civilization, Great Historical Influences, and United States History. For students who expressed a further interest about our world, the courses American Political Thought, 20th Century European History, and sociology were offered.

By comparing past with present events, students were shown how history applies to their lives. Through an understanding of the past, students can better appreciate the present and get a firm grip on the future.

Included in our excellent staff of history teachers were Mr. Charles Czubin, Mr. Mick Michalson, Ms. Mary Lou Muir, Mr. Bill Trowbridge, and Mr. Kenneth Van Diest. Due to the levy failure, teachers from other departments—Mr. Jim Blake, Miss Ann Brown, and Mr. Gordon Rodland—also taught history classes.

Basic sciences: keys to the future

Despite the levy failure, Highline has continued to offer the best science education it can give. This was possible with instruction by outstanding science teachers. Mr. Bob Johnsen and Mr. Ray Johnson taught beginning biology, Mr. Carl Torkko handled chemistry, and Mr. Robert Putnam presided over physics.

The cutback in classes was most apparent in the science department, where class choices were cut in half. Advanced biology, botany, and advanced chemistry were dropped, leaving beginning biology, chemistry, and physics as science choices. Even though students were not able to go on to higher levels of science at Highline, the basic science skills taught this year made college education easier for many students.

Math and business ed.: future skills developed

When a student leaves high school, an education in business and mathematics has proved to be very beneficial in dealing with problems one faces in every day life in the modern world. These classes are designed to introduce and train students in skills that will be useful in any occupation.

Highline offered classes in this category to suit the needs of each individual. Two additions to our staff, Mr. Gary Peterson and Miss Nancy Tully, made it possible to broaden the number of classes available. Steadily working together, our staff presented a beneficial program to interested students.

The math department was headed by Mr. J. C. Bonney and the business education department was headed by Mr. David Craig.

Foreign language: key to understanding

The Foreign language classes at Highline were a large part of our curriculum. The courses offered were German, taught by Frau Karen Pauler; French, taught by Mrs. Virginia Jackson; and Spanish and Russian, taught by Mr. Richard Carter.

Activities in the classes ranged from singing songs to cooking gourmet dishes from the country which they were learning about, as well as learning the language of the country.

These classes well covered the foreign language requirements for most colleges and universities.

Being of sound mind and body

The health and P.E. departments worked together successfully educating students in physical and mental health this year.

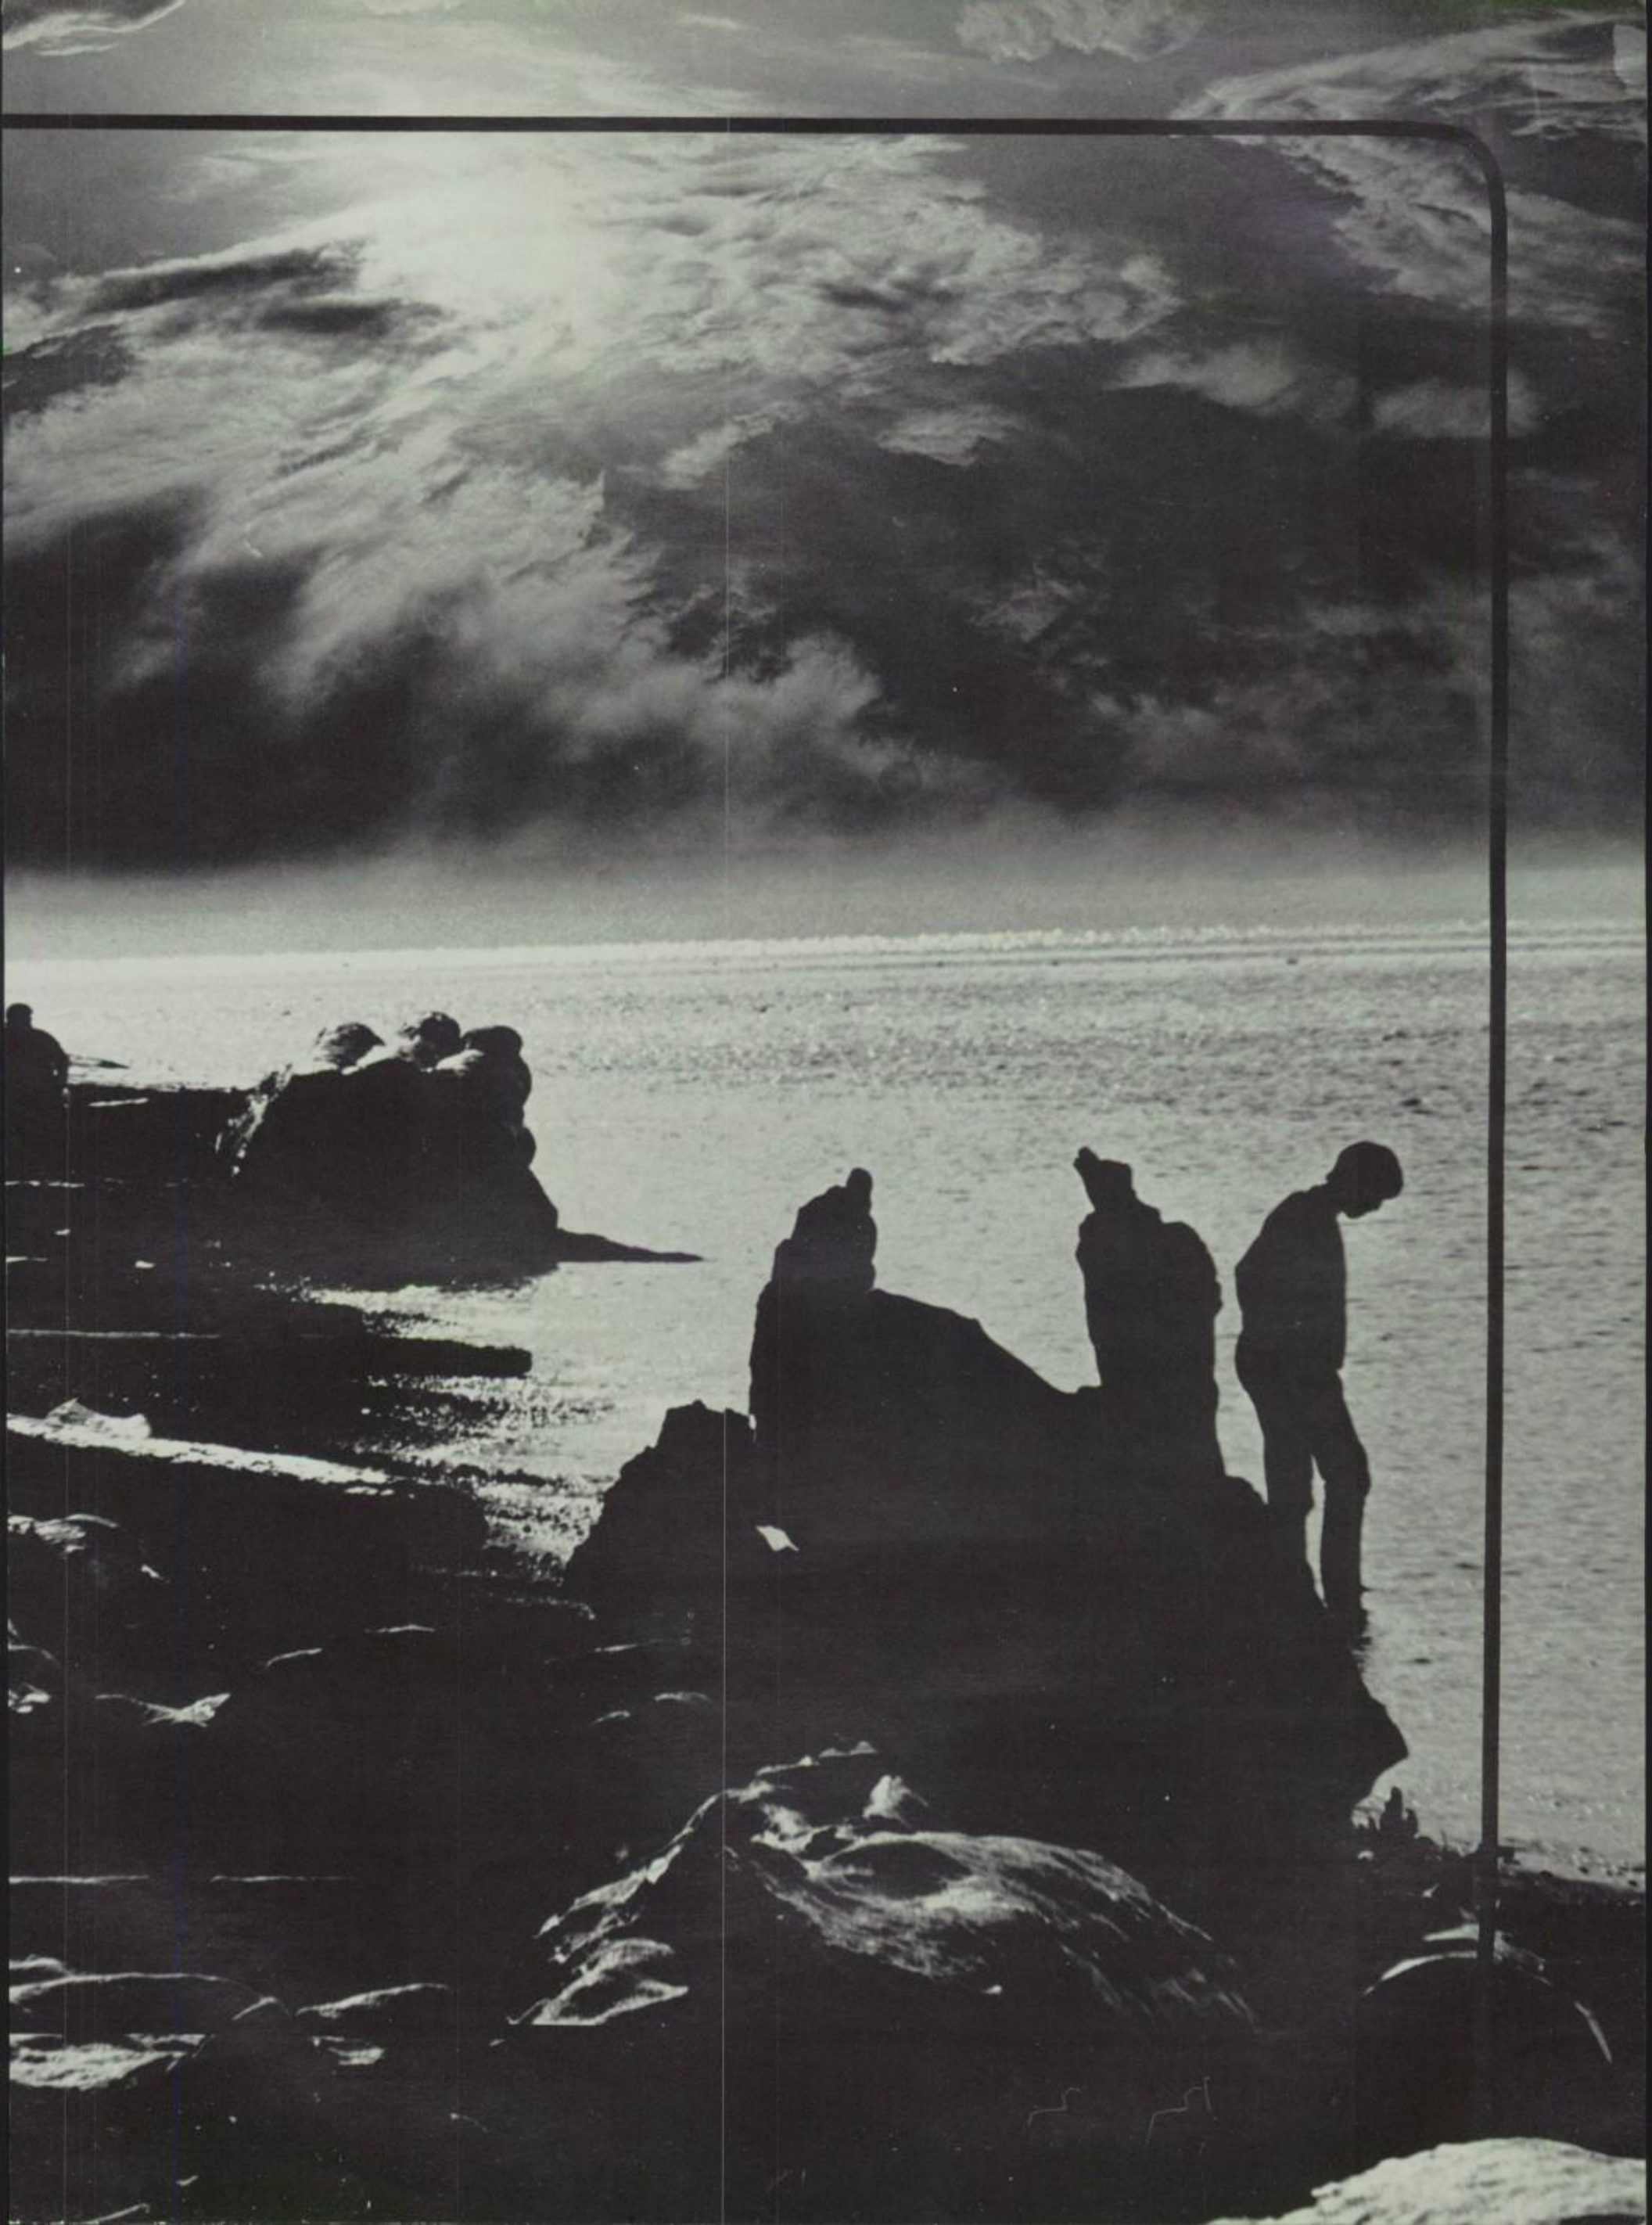

The physical education program, headed by Mr. Bob Sarver, with Mr. Jim Robeck, Mr. Mick Michalson and Ms. Joanne Slosser, exposed the students to a wide variety of activities ranging from football to folk dancing. Strength, coordination, and competition helped both boys and girls strive for the full potential of their physical abilities.

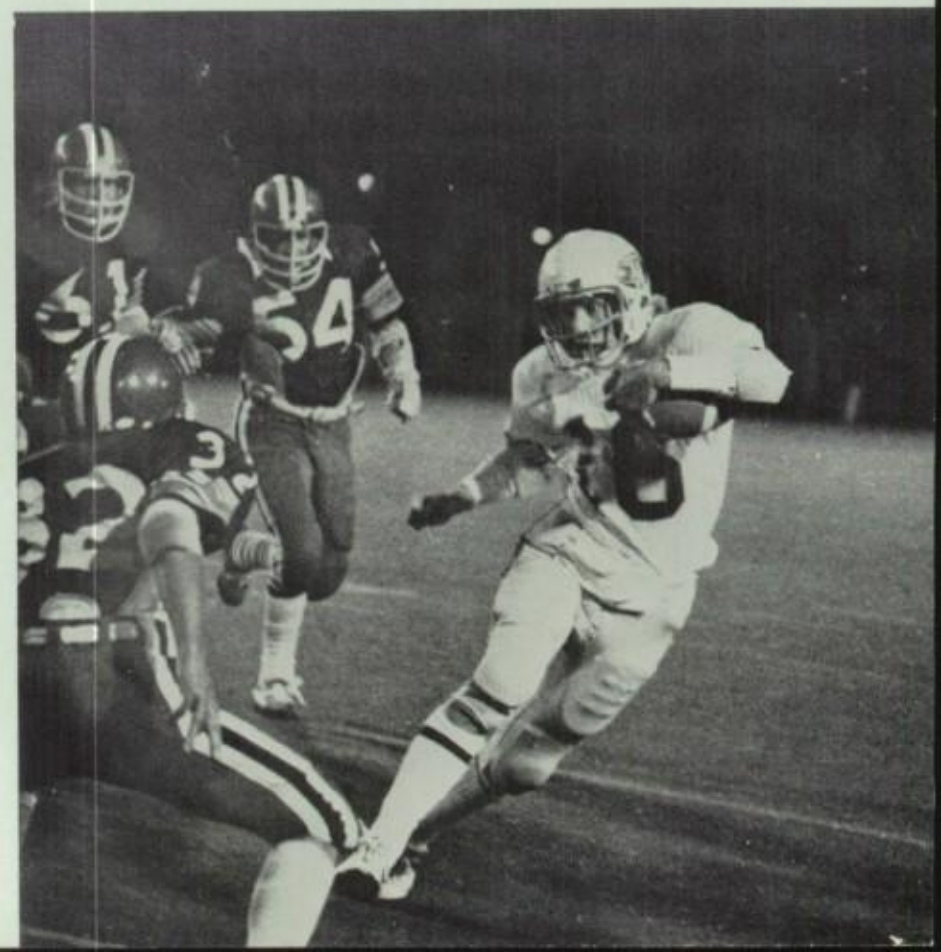

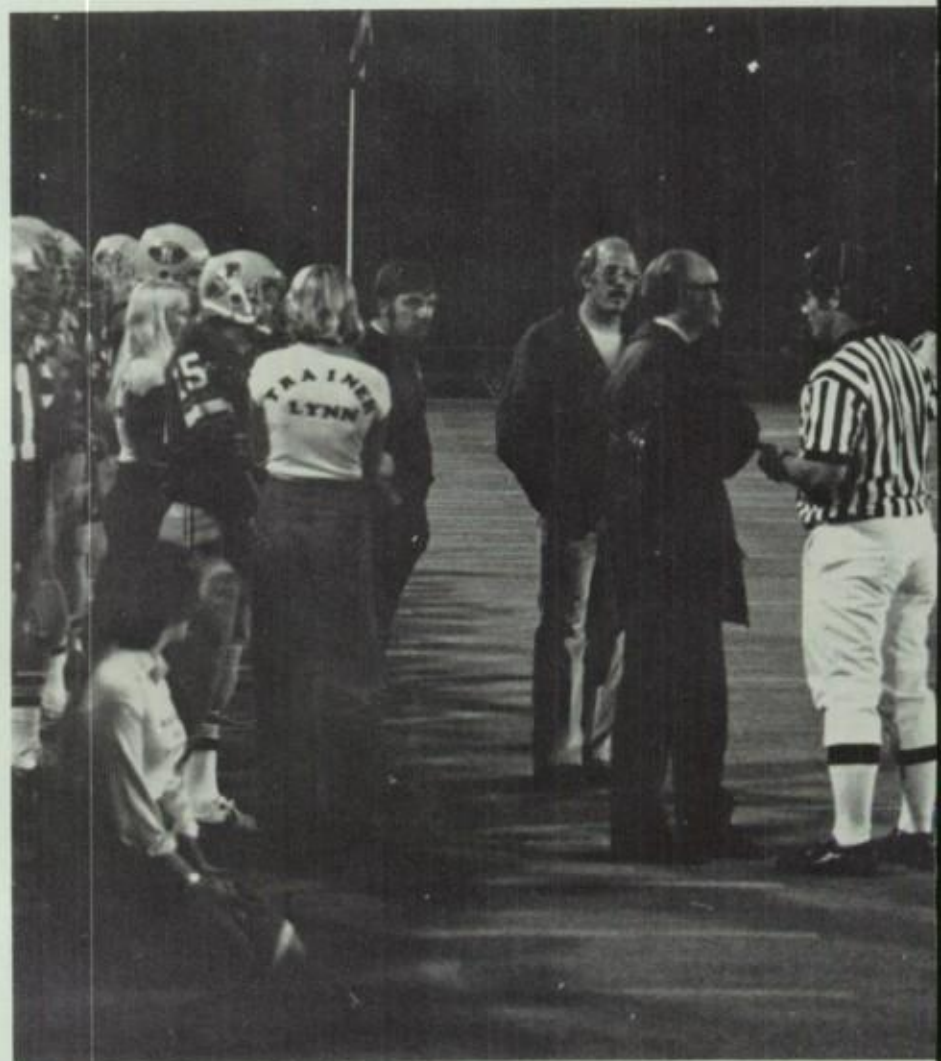

Highline's health classes taught by Mr. Victor Carpine and Mr. Gordon Rodland, helped to guide the students towards mental fitness. The classes were geared to student interest with attention focused on mental health, drug abuse and various diseases. The objective of the program was to bring current information to students so they can make intelligent decisions when they are faced with health problems.

Defense: Pirates' strong point

The 1977 Highline football season started out with two exciting wins over Hazen and Kent-Meridian. Head Coach Sam Moyle, with assistant coaches Ray Johnsen and Dave Stark, did an excellent job of coaching this year's team, which finished the season with a 2-7 record.

The Pirates had several close overtime losses, due partly to injuries. The rematch of the season occurred when Highline's sophomore team challenged Mt. Rainier's second string. Having previously been defeated by three points in the third overtime against Mt. Rainier, the Pirates came back with a 14-0 win over the Rams.

A bright spot on the team this year was the defense. Leading the team in tackles and assists were Ed Snyder, Phil Boyd, and Dan Isernio. Mark Warren led the team in interceptions and kick-off and punt returns. The defense gave their opponents a run for their money every game, as they placed second in the N.P.S.L. in team defense.

Blake Ellis, quarterback, led Highline's offense this season, as he placed third in the N.P.S.L. in passing. Ellis's favorite receivers were Jeff Bacon, Scott Kimmel, and Fred Staples. The backs were led by Joe Ballata, Cliff Bridges, and John Dalrymple in rushing. Jeff Bacon led the scoring for the Pirates with 18 points.

At the Annual Football Banquet, Ed Snyder was chosen team captain, Dan Isernio received the Inspirational Award, and Jim Grubbs was voted Most Improved.

EVERYTHING MUST CHANGE

Reunion with the past

"Everything Must Change" was the theme and green and gold were the colors for this year's Homecoming as the alumni were welcomed back to Highline on October 13 and 14.

Providing music for the dance was an excellent band, Blue Mountain Eagle. Pep Club was responsible for decorating the cafeteria and selling tickets.

Although we were defeated by Evergreen's football team with a final score of 21-12, the stadium was filled with spirit. The marching band, under the direction of drum major Ron Ebbers, entertained the spectators during halftime. The royalty were presented in old-fashioned cars which reflected the theme. This year's royalty were Sandy Stipe, Queen; Joanne Olson and Tammy Moore, Senior Princesses; Kim Piper, Junior Princess; and Gerri Garding, Sophomore Princess.

Runners show much improvement

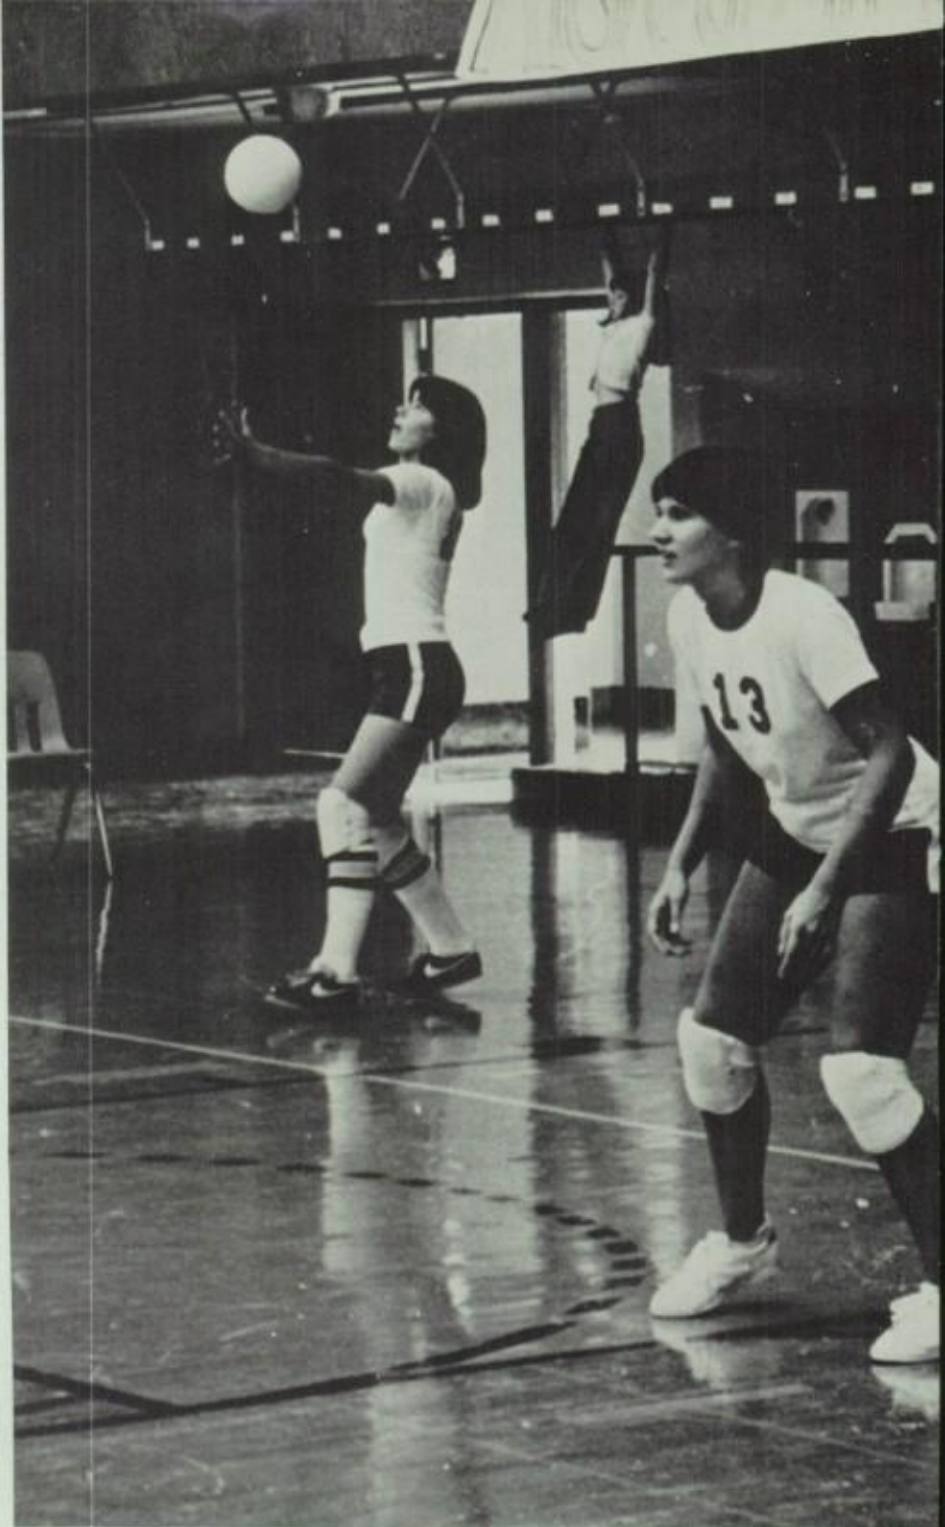

Coached by Mr. Bob Sarver, the 1977 cross country team ran even better than last year, improving with each stride. Unfortunately, the other teams in the league improved as much and more.

The girls' team finished the season with a 4 win - 5 loss record, placing fourth in the league. Most Improved was awarded to Dorian Dunne. Kim Fitzharris was voted team Captain.

The boys' team had several good runners and ran many close races. Most Improved was Mike Greenleaf, and Team Captain was Brian Malone. The Inspirational award for both boys and girls was given to Harold Richter.

The main thing holding the team back this year was the lack of practice before the season started. With the potential of the runners and more preparation, the team has high hopes for next year.

Team effort results in winning season

Highline's volleyball team came through the season with an overall record of eight wins and six losses. The graduating seniors were Joan Sims, Carol Mansfield, Vicki Patteson, Nancy Lavin, Julie Watt, and Lisa Garvin, who was not only a player, but also the official linesperson. With the loss of the team's strong setters, Joan and Carol, next year's volleyball team will have to work hard to develop their setters.

In the winning games, the team was very well balanced and played with a lot of team effort. The losses were due to much sickness and several injuries among the team members. Jill Urquhart was out all season with a cracked foot, but kept in touch with the team by being the official team scorer. Coach Slosser commented that injuries don't hurt a team as much as losing the vital J.V. teams.

Lisa Garvin received the Most Improved award, Wanda Deibert earned the Inspirational award, and Joan Sims was voted Team Captain.

They dove right in and came out on top

Completing an excellent season, the girls' swim team, coached by Mr. Scott Lautman, placed 9th in state competition. This meet proved a good one for our girls, as they finished with 48 team points, better than any of the other local schools.

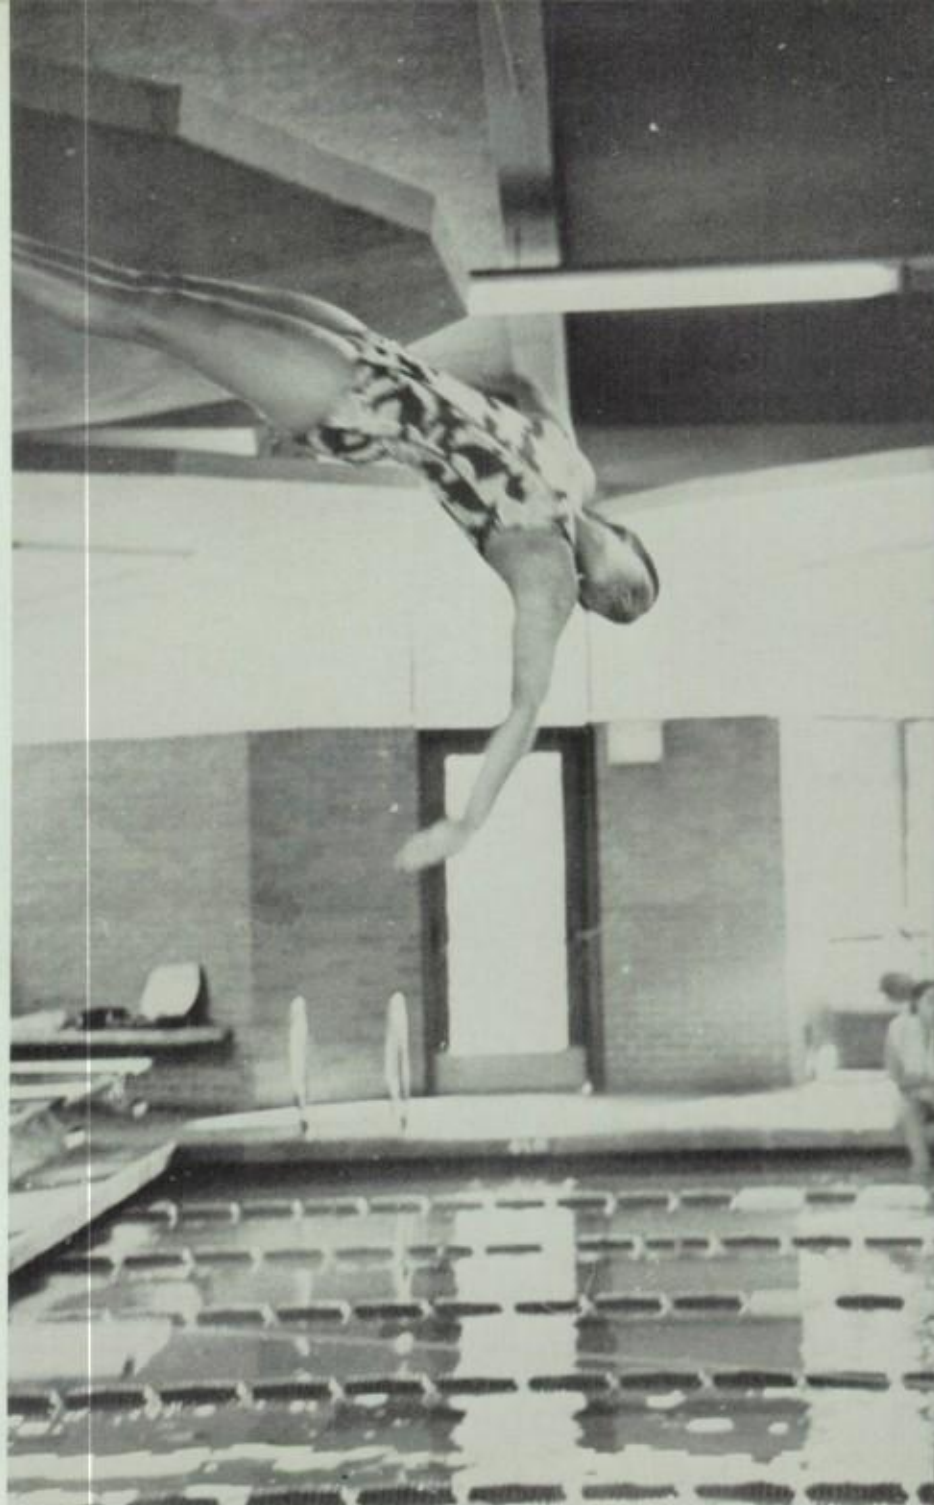

Competing in state competition were Heather Mackey, Karin and Diane Fosberg, Diane Schultz, and Tara Bell.

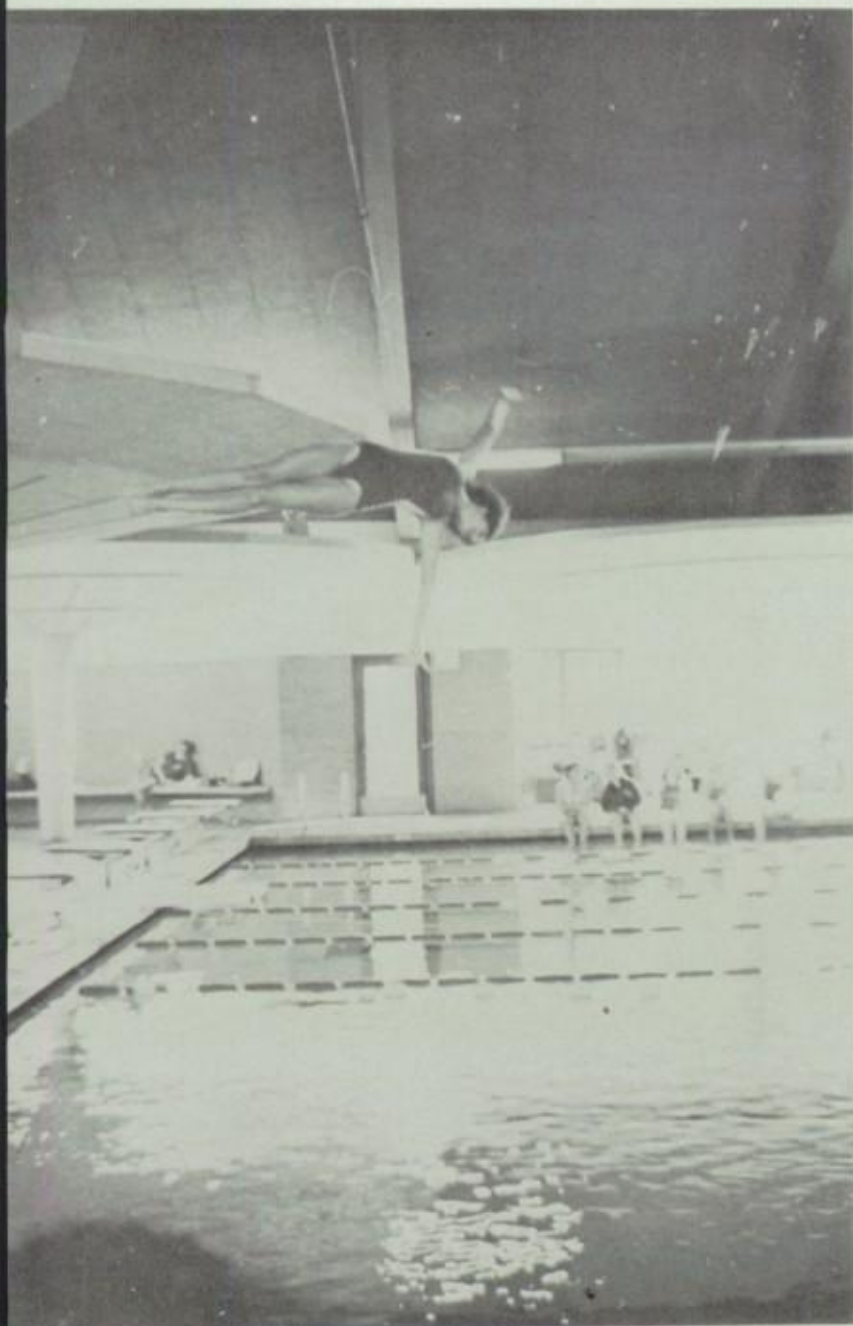

Heather Mackey placed 8th in the 50 meter freestyle and 12th in the 100 meter butterfly. Karin Fosberg placed 4th in the 200 meter individual medley and 9th in the 100 meter breaststroke. Placing 7th in the 400 meter free relay were Karin and Diane Fosberg, Heather Mackey, and Diane Schultz.

Entering in the diving competition as one of the favorites to win the state title, Tara Bell was the best individual Highline placer at the meet. She gained a second place finish, just 55 hundredths of a point behind the winner.

Team awards were given to Keri Schafer (Most Improved), Karin Fosberg (Co-captain and Most Outstanding), and Heather Mackey (Co-captain and Most Academic).

These girls ended the season with a 16-5 record, an excellent achievement for the girls' swim team.

Golfers: to your clubs

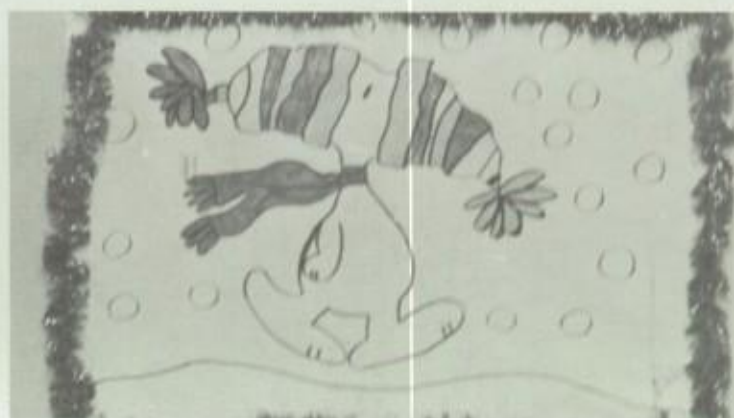

The 1977-78 golf squad, coached by long time golfer, Mr. Bill Trowbridge, had nine scheduled matches for the year. They accomplished a 4 win - 5 loss record, placing well in league standings. Awards were received by Jim Stampalia, Captain; Rob Frishholz, Most Improved; and Mike Heilbrun, Inspirational. Jim Stampalia and Rob Frishholz, who are considered the top competitors, attended the N.P.S.L. Medalist Tournament and both placed well in the standings.

With the growing popularity of this sport, next season should be an even more exciting and productive year of quality golf.

WINTER

Barnyard Boogie Time

Jeans and plaid shirts were the standard dress for couples attending Highline's annual Grub Tolo on January 7, 1978. This informal event presented gals with the opportunity to dine, dance, and be photographed with the guys of their choice. Couples "rocked the night away" to the disco sounds of the featured band, Clear Logic.

The Seafarers Club sponsored this evening of entertainment and decorated the Cafetorium to resemble a ranch-style ballroom, carrying out the Barnyard Boogie theme.

GRUB TOLO

FORMAL TOLO

"You're in my heart" at Highline

Saturday, February 18th was the date of the 1978 annual formal tolo which highlighted the beginning of the second semester. Many couples, dressed in their best gowns and suits, attended the event in the cafeteria and enjoyed an evening of dancing and socializing. The band, "United Flyte", provided excellent rock music for dancing and listening.

The dancers assembled in a circle to form a spotlight dancing floor as the Tolo King, Bill Breakey, and his date, Theresa Tanasse, drifted to the mellow notes of Elvis Presley. Also attending the dance were Junior Prince Kip Sheldahl, and Sophomore Prince Troy Phelps. The seafarers sponsored this event and developed the theme for the dance, "You're in my heart" which carried out the Valentine's Day celebration.

Pirate hoopsters show talent and enthusiasm

The Pirates Basketball team, coached by Mr. Jim Robeck and Mr. Ray Johnson, entered the 1977-78 basketball season with much optimism and talent.

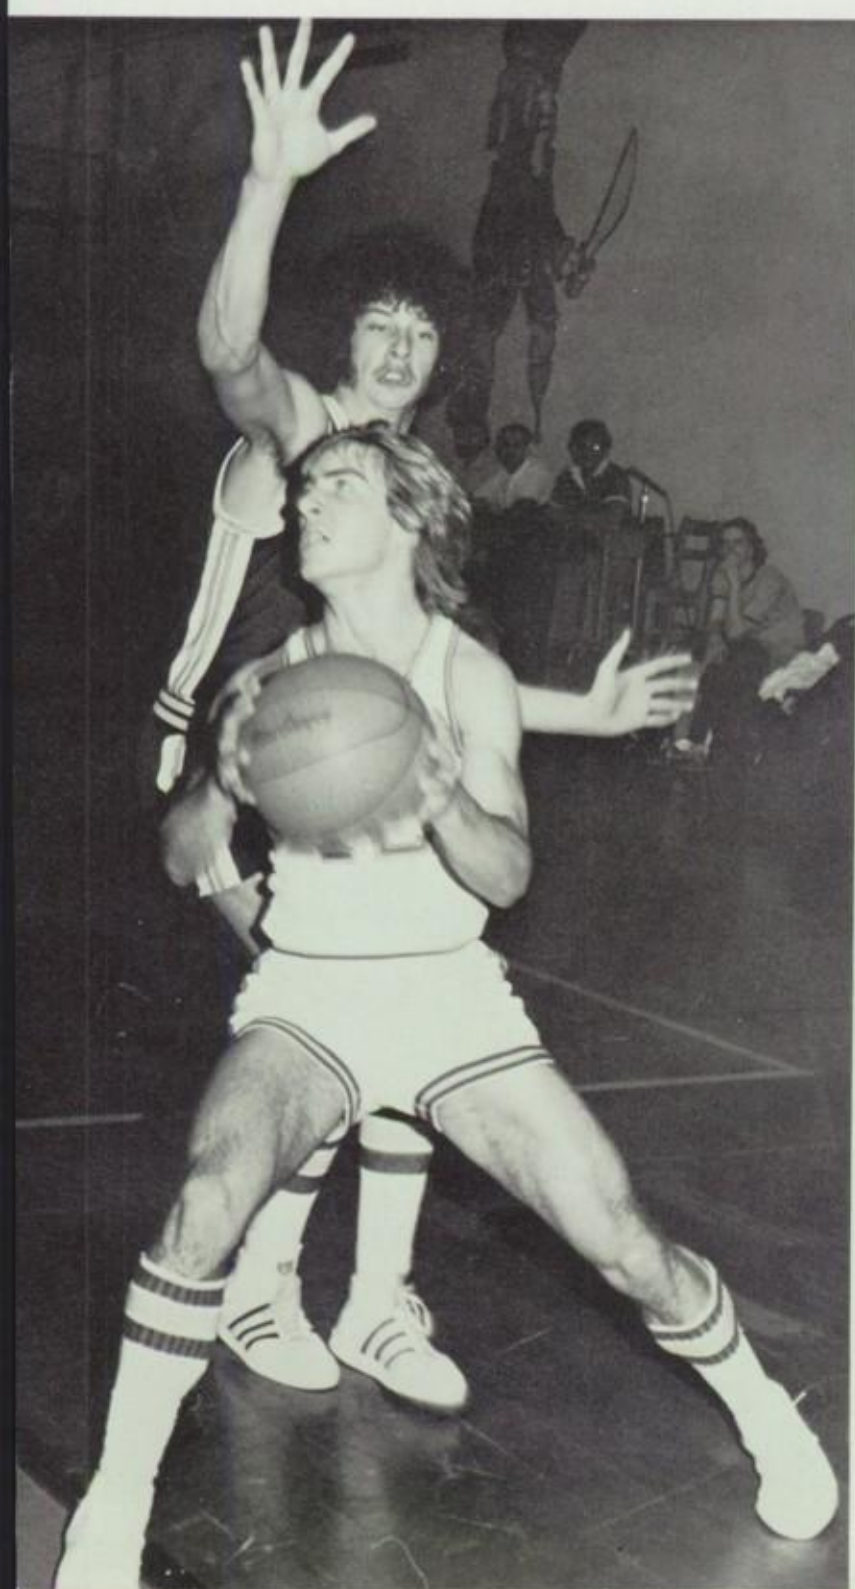

All grades were well represented on the team, with many talented juniors and sophomores contributing a good deal to each game. The competition was always at a high level and no starter spot was secure throughout the season.

Gifted seniors Kevin Bridges, Jeff Norgaard, Craig Owen, and Donnie Patterson added their skill and experience to the team. Juniors Cliff Bridges, Ed Bomber, Byron Golphene, Doug Hale, and Greg Mine contributed a good share of the points while super "Sophs" Jim Beason, Dave Clement, Jeff Greer, Gordy Hale, Troy Phelps, Brett Sarver, and Walt Taylor added strong bench support and enthusiasm to round out the team.

Co-captains Kevin Bridges and Craig Owen showed fine leadership, and manager Mike Borland contributed a good deal to the team's success.

The Highline hoopsters ended the season with a good record, placing third in the tough Cascade Division of the North Puget Sound League. Next year should bring another great season for the Pirates with many talented underclassmen returning.

Girls' Basketball: another strong season

The 1977-78 Girls' Basketball team had an outstanding season, finishing with a 14 - 4 win-loss record and a third place spot in the Cascade Division of the North Puget Sound League. The team was made up of 15 talented players, coached by Mr. Mick Michalson with the assistance of Mr. Chuck Czubin. The starting lineup consisted of two seniors, Linda Jones and a much improved Marcia Hawthorne, and three juniors, Denise Brose, Theresa Tanasse, and Debbie Pillo.

Highline's team proved to be strong, especially in the rebound department, with possibly the tallest starting lineup in the N.P.S.L. Denise Brose, averaging 16 points a game, led the team's offense in scoring.

With nine returning juniors and two strong returning sophomores, the team should prove just as successful next year.

Outstanding wrestlers make strong showing

The Pirate Matmen, led by Coach Dave Stark, proved to be a valuable team in the North Puget Sound League this year.

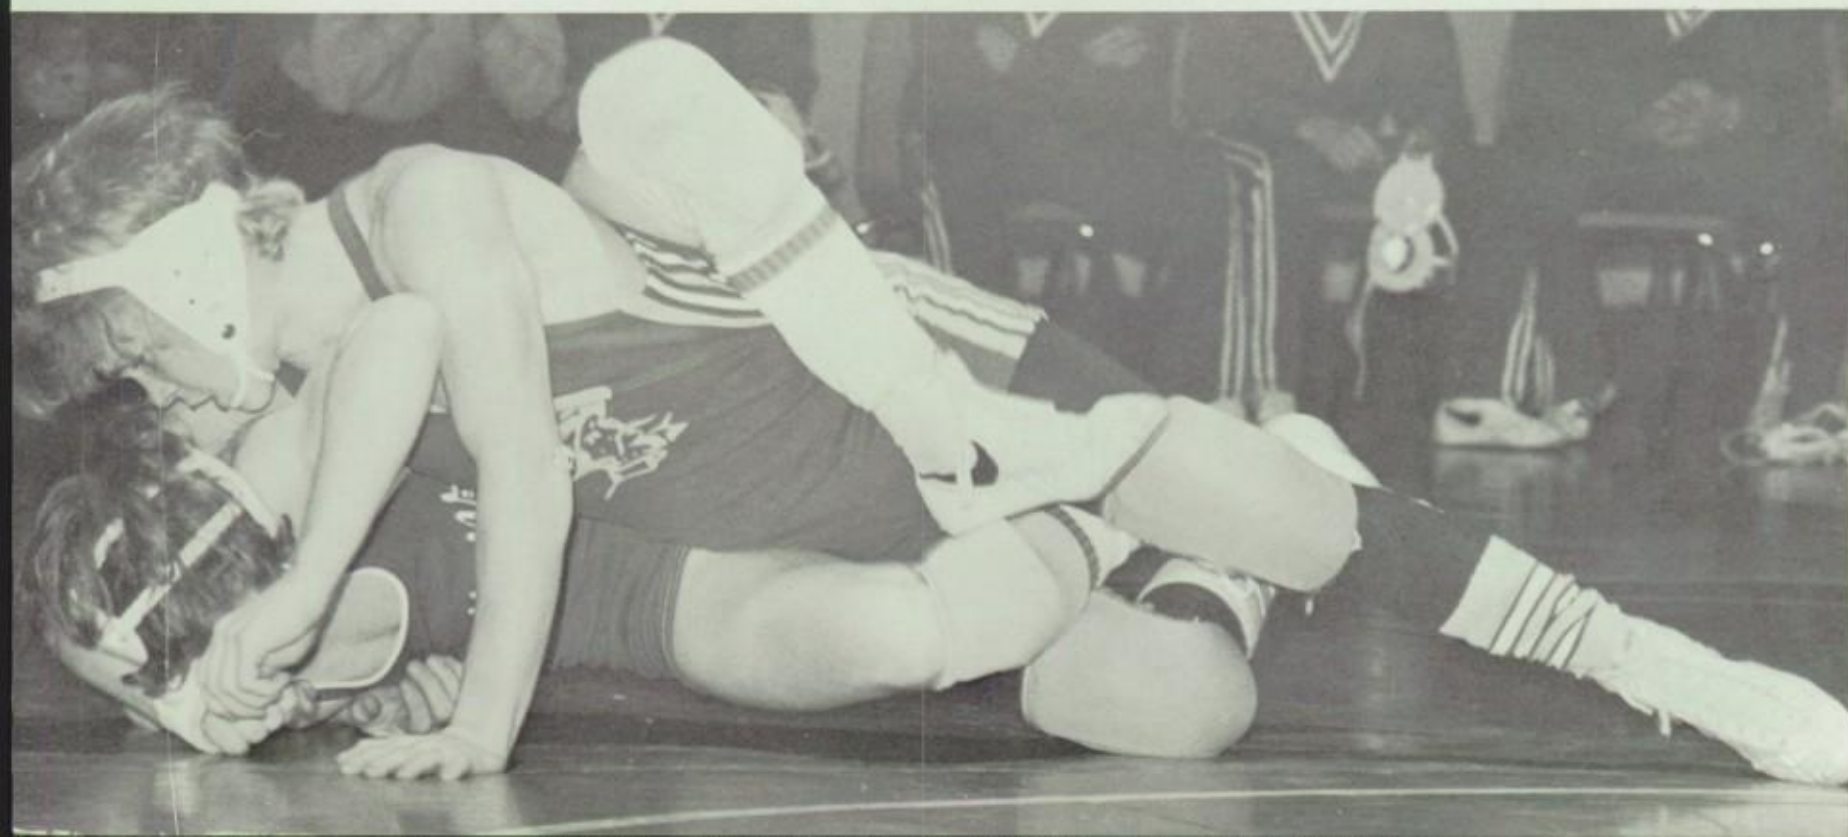

Twenty-seven wrestlers finished the season, each an interested and dedicated individual. Outstanding on the team were sophomores Martin Schroeder, at 108 lbs., and Mike Smith, unlimited. The juniors were led by Nick Castrow, at 190 lbs., and Craig Sandvigen, at 129. Our super seniors were Gil Martin, at 148 lbs., and Shawn Wattles, at 141.

The highlight of the season for Highline was the Inglemoor Takedown Tournament, where the Pirates placed second over all, beating Redmond 53-15.

Demonstrating great team effort and individual talent, the wrestlers gave everything they had to make the 1977-78 season a successful one for the Pirates.

Buc tankers tops in NPSL

Determination was the key word for the mens' swim team this year. Rallying in the final race of the league meet, Coach Scott Lautman's Tankers won the North Puget Sound League Championship. The final race that put the team into regional competition was the 400 meter free relay won by Tom Sherry, Mark Veale, Mark Rekate, and team captain Rick Sherry.

In League play, the Pirates were very successful completing the scheduled season with an 11-2 win-loss record. In addition, many of the swimmers qualified for state competition. Among them were Rick Sherry, Mark Veale, Peter Hebert, Joe Hebert, Mark Rekate, Tony Hudgins, John Eliason, Tom Sherry, and Jeff Michalson. Also adding to the team's success were juniors Steve Ingalsbe and Joe West, and Sophomores Scott Reed, Steve Shull, and Steve Scott. Always encouraging the team were managers Heather Mackey, Karin Fosberg, and Kitty Light.

With 11 of the 14 team members returning next year, the Pirates should again take the NPSL title.

Highline gymnasts vault to victory

Returning to the gymnastics team this year were Bonnie Clark, Lee Sanborn, Carolyn Tidball, Linda Brown, Cheri Fromm, and Mariann Ball. Newcomers included Renee Patten, Tina Garbo, Robin Devick, Laurie Gilleland, Lisa Ronhaar, Dorian Dunne, and Joni French, who joined late because of previous injuries.

Carolyn Tidball displayed an exceptional ability in all areas as she held steady high scores throughout the season. Bonnie Clark turned in strong performances on the bars, while Mariann Ball represented the team's strength on the beam. Dorian Dunne did exceptionally well in the vaulting events, while Carolyn Tidball showed great strength in the floor exercises.

According to Coach Bob Sarver, who was assisted by Mrs. Mary Sarver, this year's team was one of the best Highline has ever had and the team showed much in the way of improvement.

With so many talented sophomores and juniors returning, next year holds great expectations.

"Come Sail Away"

The junior class Prom Committee chose the popular song "Come Sail Away" by Styx as the theme for the 1978 Prom. Wanda Deibert and Barb Kiliz were responsible for the great success of this event which was the highlight of 1978.

Prom activities began on April 28th with the Prom show, m.c.'d by Michele Ham and Melinda McCorkle. A variety of talent was presented by Highline students which included a vocal duet by Suzi Ball and Joel Calderon, a disco dance by Tami Starr, an instrumental number by several band members, and a performance by the Highline Stage Band.

The highlight of the Prom show was the crowning of the 1978 Prom Royalty: Prom Queen, Melanie Brown; Senior Princesses, Colleen Harper and Colleen Tressel; Junior Princess, Ronda Rueschenberg; and Sophomore Princess, Shanna O'Brien.

The Prom was held on April 29th in the Snoqualmie and Nisqually Rooms at the Seattle Center. Tuxedos and formal gowns fit the occasion for couples dancing to the contemporary sounds of the band "Reflections". The ballroom was decorated with trees and sailboats of burgandy, blue, and yellow to create a perfect atmosphere for the special evening.

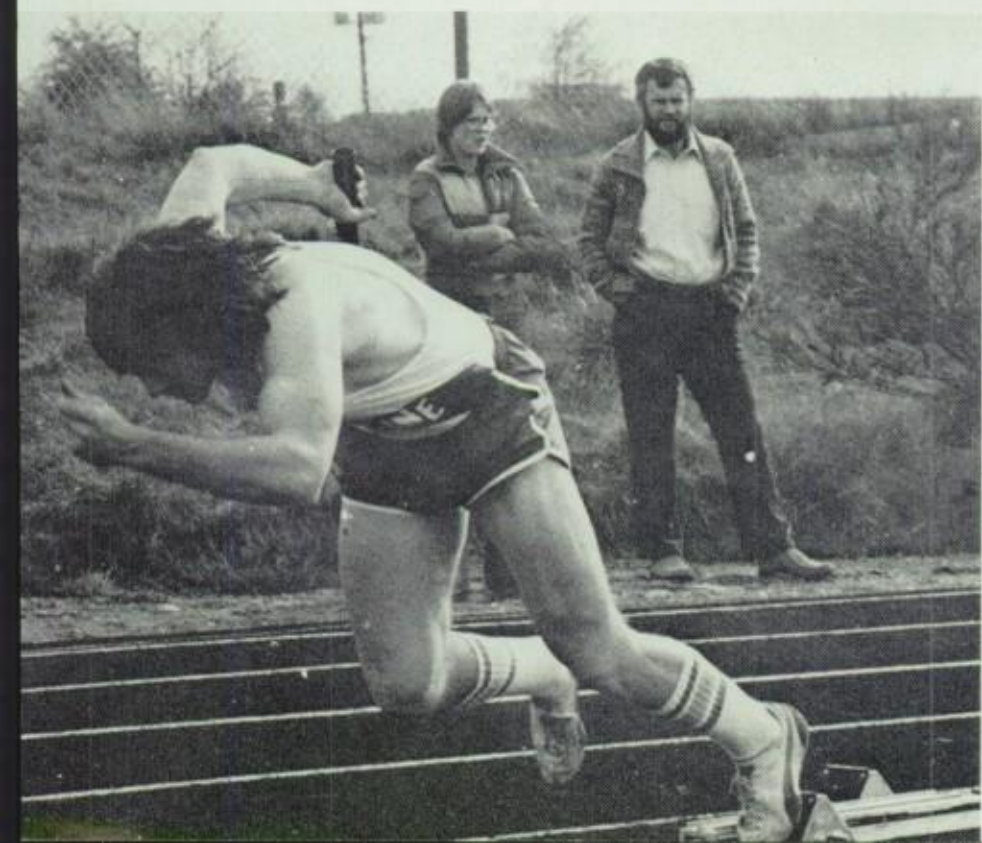

Men's track lacks experience

Led by Coach Bob Sarver, the 1978 mens' track team faced several tough competitors this season. Few returning lettermen joined this year's team; however, many new, talented juniors and sophomores helped to keep the Pirates in league standings.

The team improved steadily throughout the season with many hours of gruelling practice, rain or shine. Key performances were turned in by senior Joe Ballata and junior Dan Stadler in sprints, seniors Brian Malone and Harold Richter in long distance, and junior Scott Kimmel in the pole vault. Senior Ed Snyder had an outstanding season as he broke the school shot-put record which had stood for twelve years.

The invaluable experience gained by the underclassmen on this year's team should put them in to contention for the NPSL title next year.

Hard work brings rewards to girls

Although few letterwinners returned to the track this year, many inexperienced but talented juniors and sophomores helped round out the 1978 girls' track team. This season saw excellent performances by senior Joan Sims and junior Debbie Pillo in the sprints, juniors Kim Fitzharris and Dorian Dunne in long distance events, and sophomore Kathy Seba in the shot-put. Senior Linda Jones was consistently successful in the high jump.

Manager Melanie Brown helped keep the team together and boosted team spirit with many hours of hard work.

The girls' track team, coached by Mrs. Paula Stokke, proved that great enthusiasm and effort are the basis of a strong and highly competitive team such as the 1978 track team.

Pirate sluggers tops in NPSL

Head coach Mick Michaelson and assistant coaches Dave Stark and Dave Larson led the Pirate baseball team through one of the most successful seasons in Highline's history. The Pirates started off the season with a perfect pre-season record and went on to win 12 straight games.

Ten returning lettermen provided a strong base of experienced players with which to build the team. The Pirate pitching staff was led by the Bridges brothers. Senior Kevin and junior Cliff combined their hurling abilities with those of juniors Greg Mine and Kerry Boatright to form an unbeatable staff. Other Pirates turning in outstanding performances were catcher Walt Smith, second baseman Donnie Patterson, shortstop Jim Boatright, and outfielder John Dalrymple. Julie Alpaugh was the manager for the successful 1978 team.

The large number of underclassmen on the team should guarantee another very successful season for the Pirate baseball team next year.

Raquetters take the court

The Pirate tennis team kicked-off the 1978 season with practice matches beginning in early March.

Despite a small turn-out, Coach Joanne Slosser led a team of 16 eligible players into successful competition. Helping to strengthen the Pirates' game were 7 returning letterwinners who included junior Dave Carratt, and seniors Mike Koken, Vicki Patteson, Anil Patel, John Briggs, Don Kobayashi, and Janene Waters. Dave Carratt held the number one team position in singles competition throughout the season.

Special recognition was given to Tracy Parker who was the hard-working manager for the 1978 tennis team.

HARRY E. LEMON

Memorial

Although 1977 brought many good memories, a sad one will remain. Harry E. Lemon, a man well known and remembered by most people at Highline and in Burien, passed away on October 19, 1977.

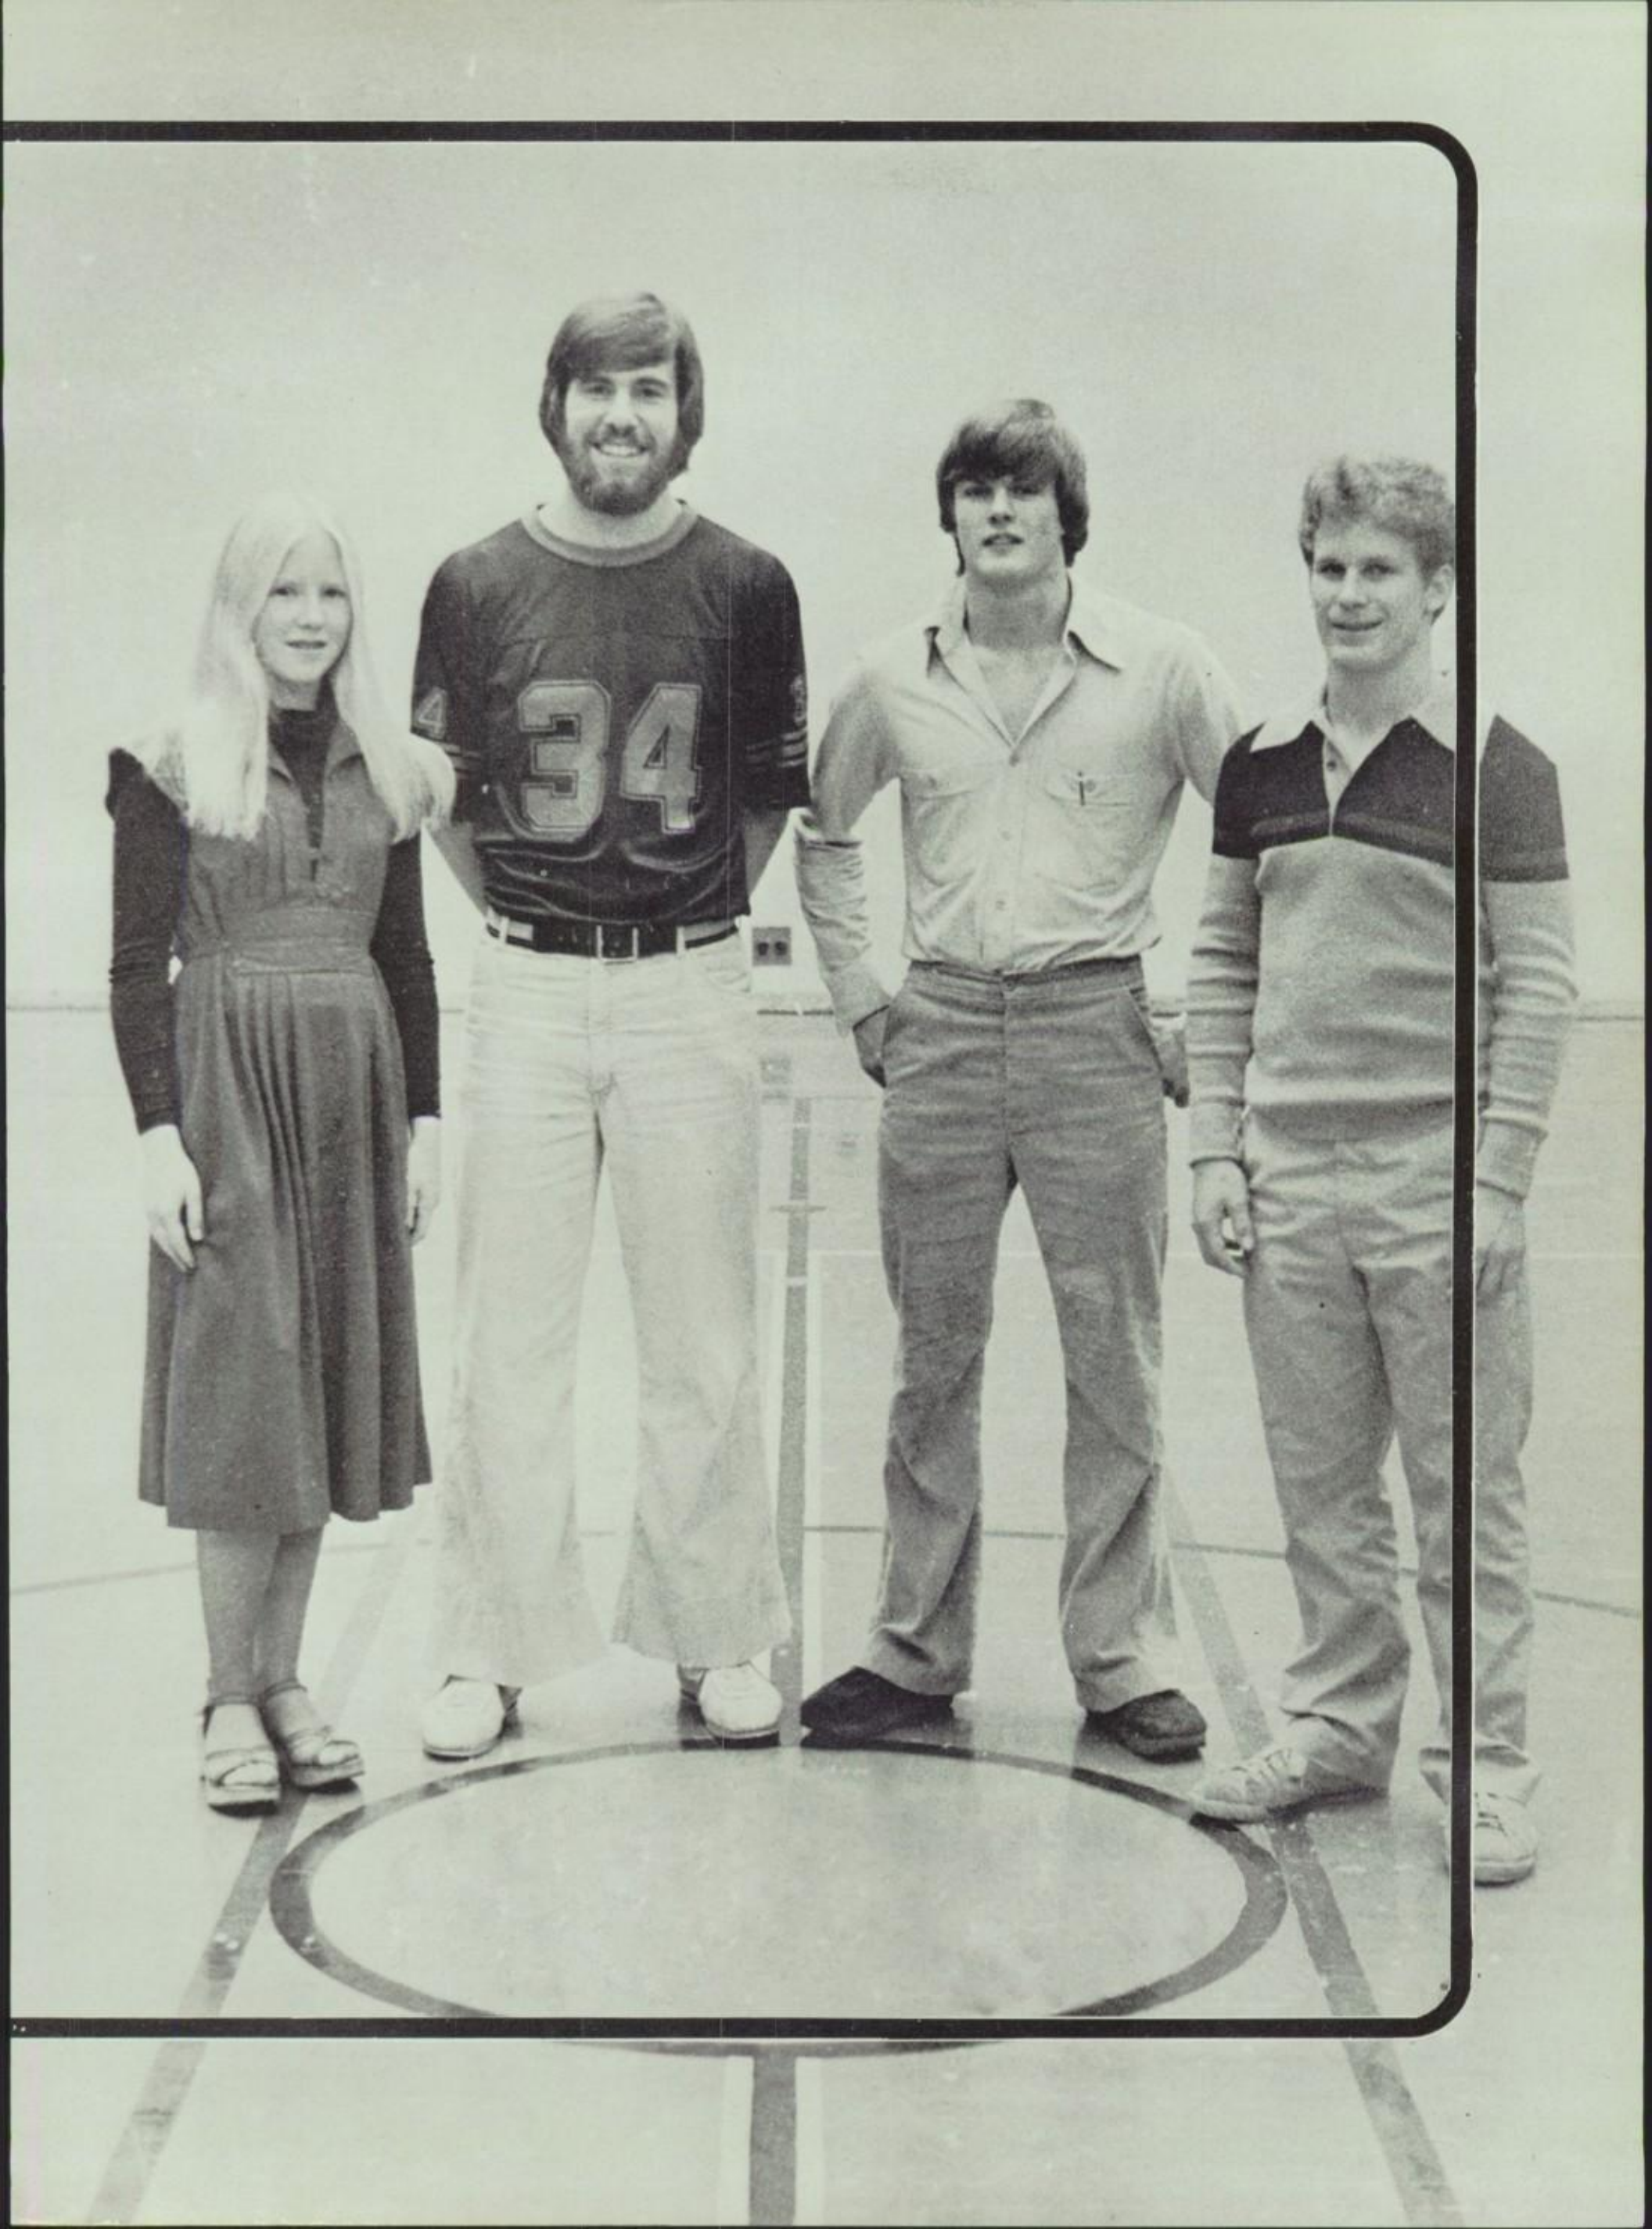

Mr. Lemon is perhaps best remembered for his dedication to outdoor education at Camp Waskowitz, where he worked with sixth graders and high school students until well after his retirement from other educational duties.

He taught at Highline High School from 1927 to 1963, where he inspired many students over the years while conducting 27 musical productions.

The memory of Harry Lemon remains as a symbol of dedication and service to the community and the school.

ORGANIZATIONS

Executive Council gets student body involved

The executive council was made up of the leaders of school clubs and organizations. The four ASB officers for the year were Shawn Wattles, president; Bill Breakey, vice-president; Terry Chenaur, secretary; and Steve Helman, treasurer.

The main purposes of the council were to plan major student events and to discuss school issues.

The council members kept the students involved and accomplished a great deal in the planning of dances to raise student body funds and in arranging various assemblies.

The voice of the student body

This year Mr. Reimer decided to involve the representative assembly more directly in decisions affecting the student body. The assembly was informed of coming events and was encouraged to vote on some issues.

Bill Breakey, ASB vice-president, conducted the meetings every third Tuesday. The 40 members debated issues pertaining to school events. The minutes of each meeting were printed up and sent to each teacher on the following day for reports by room representatives: thus, the students were kept informed.

This year the representative assembly was an effective way to communicate with the whole student body.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Girls' Club

One of the most active clubs in school decided to change its title to Seafarers. This made it possible for boys to join and for the club to comply with the recently passed affirmative action laws. Mrs. Virginia Pleasants was a tremendous help to the cabinet and the officers, who were Colleen Harper, president; Joanne Olson, vice-president; Pam West, secretary; and Kerry Putnam, treasurer.

The Seafarers sponsored many activities during the year, starting off with the Sophomore Picnic, where everyone enjoyed the chance to get together before school started. Next came the Fathers' Banquet in November, where "You Light Up My Life" was the theme. The K.C.'s were a great help serving during the dinner. The Tolo was a success this year, as well as a relatively new activity, grub tolo—or "Barnyard Boogie." Jeans and flannel shirts replaced suits and long dresses at this affair, and all those who attended really enjoyed themselves.

Other activities included a very successful canned food drive, car washes, and popcorn ball sales. To finish up a great year, the girls invited their mothers to a tea in the spring. The hard work and planning on the part of the Seafarers to make these events possible were greatly appreciated by all.

KC's: service with a smile

Knights of Cutlass make it their job to help out whenever needed. Purple and gold hats could never have been a better sight to a lost sophomore on the first day of school. The KC's also served refreshments at the annual Father/Daughter Banquet as well as entertaining at many of the pep rallies.

Officers of the KC group were Brian Malone, president; Dave Evenson, vice-president; and Steve Sherman, secretary-treasurer.

DECA students plan for the future

Under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Sablin, Highline's distributive education program has grown from a note-book-and-pencil shop to what is known as the DECA student store. This expanding business has an inventory ranging from Whoppers to ski caps; there is, however, more to DECA than just the profitable store. Students are preparing themselves for the business world of tomorrow.

DECA's clever advisor has achieved many goals which have benefited Highline, such as furnishing the cafeteria with an ice cream parlor, scaring the wits out of people with the haunted hallway on Halloween, not to mention the apple sale and the annual ski swap.

The DECA course offered the students the chance to learn English and math while meeting people and learning the value of the dollar.

Cheer staff leads pirate ship

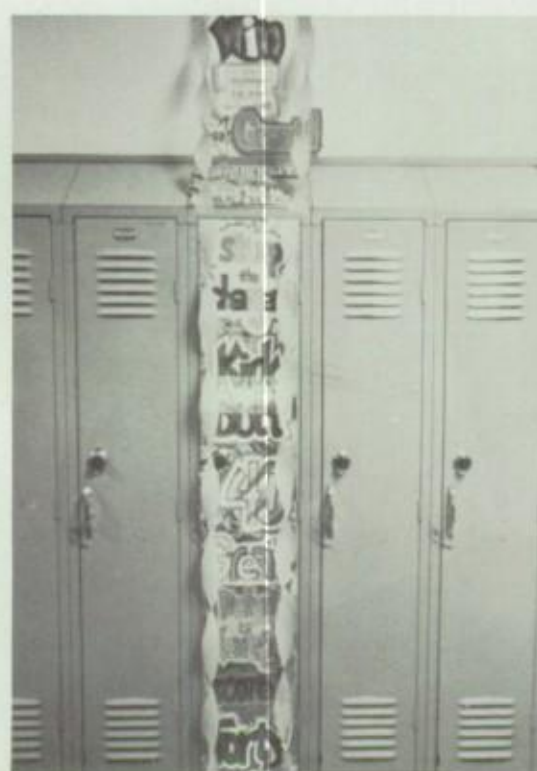

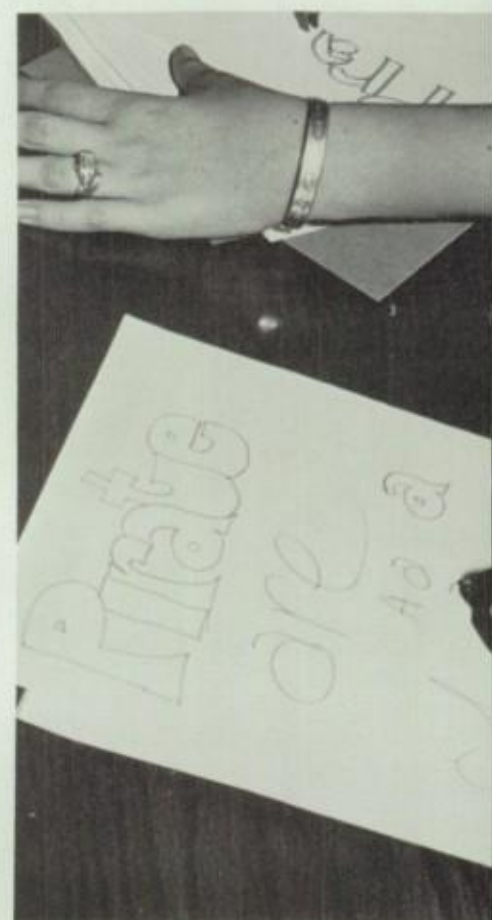

The cheerleaders for the 1977-78 school year were Jodi Ashley, Melanie Brown, Sandy Burrill, Julie Burrows, Debbie Craig, Kristy Curtin, Denise Groth, Debbie Heike, and Lois Jasmer.

Highline's cheer staff had a very memorable experience last summer when they attended a state-wide cheer camp in Ellensburg to learn new cheers and routines.

During the year they attended all sporting events and assisted with assemblies. The fund-raising activity for the year was selling lollipops. With the help of cheer advisor Mrs. Patricia Burgess, the cheerleaders had an exciting and rewarding year.

Pep Club: devoted to school spirit.

Under the leadership of Miss Nancy Tully, Pep Club did an outstanding job in sparking the enthusiasm. This year's officers were Sheri Wheeler, president; Sue Boggs, vice-president; Elaine Hulsman, secretary; and Kim Piper, treasurer.

With the help of club members and officers, signs were painted and decorations were designed for dances and games. The club was also responsible for baking cookies for team members and making this year's Homecoming a memorable event.

Highline's reputation for being a spirited school was enhanced by this fine leadership.

Developing leadership through electronics

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America completed its fourth year at Highline under the direction of Mr. Dave Stark. The purpose of the club was to develop leadership qualities in members throughout the year. The fund raising activity of the year was operating the concessions at home basketball games. The club members also assisted with the sound system at movies presented by the school. They were also very active in the V. I. C. A. Electronics State Competition.

The officers for the 1977-78 school year were Steve Raymond, president; Dave Byboth, vice-president; Joe Byboth, secretary; Steve Bement, treasurer; and Joe Di-Marco.

Spades aid handicapped

Spades had a very successful year with more than forty members in this service organization. Mrs. Justine Richards, Spades advisor, helped to organize many of the year's activities, some of which included volunteer work in convalescent homes; field trips to Riverton Heights, a school for handicapped children; a potluck dinner; and a Halloween party for sixth graders at Woodside.

Spades is sponsored by the Highline Kiwanis. Funds raised by Spades selling Halloween candy were given to the Kiwanis for special charities.

Spades officers were Kerry Putnam and Tracy Austin, co-presidents; Storee Castillo, vice-president; and Sarah Neuffer, treasurer. Everyone worked hard, giving their services to help the handicapped.

Aides assist fellow students

Assisting our secretaries and librarians in running an efficient school system, the library and office aides were kept very busy. In serving the teachers and students, these people did such jobs as answering phones, checking library books in and out, and running errands. With the help of our library and office aides, Highline had a very smooth year.

Camera Club takes winning shot

Camera Club was organized this year by Ms. Pat Sullivan, photography and English teacher, and was headed by president Kip Sheldahl.

The club was mainly for more advanced photographers who could compete against others with their photographic talents and continue learning as well.

Some of the activities planned by Camera Club were field trips to practice photography and a successful photo contest between the members of the club.

Cinema Club entertains with films

While learning to plan and shoot films, the Cinema Club, under the supervision of Mr. Dick Graham, was able to bring outstanding movies to the student body. With the profits from these films they were able to sponsor a school folk dance.

This year's officers were Chris Crounse, president; Bob Waye, vice-president; Kevin Malone, secretary; and Steve Burrows, treasurer.

Debate scores again

Debate was a class during fifth period and also a club that met after school, both advised by Mrs. Linda Ferguson. Julie Phillips was the president of Debate and the other officers included Robin Wheatley, vice-president; and Dan Baker, secretary.

Highline's debate team competed with many other teams throughout Seattle in such areas as expository and dramatic interpretation. They traveled to many schools to debate and also held their own debate tournaments, open to anyone, at Highline. Because of the many talented debaters, the team had a successful year.

Space colony: dream or reality?

This year Futuristics was made up of many members, including students and graduates. Advised by Mr. Don Bunker and organized by president Carol Mansfield, the club is continuing to build its model of a space colony. The club members, all volunteers, have put in over 7600 hours over a two-and-a-half-year period building the O'Neil Space Colony.

The club has set a completion date of no later than 1979, which leaves the final work to the class of '79. Upon completion, the model will be displayed in the Pacific Science Center or the Pacific Northwest Historical Foundation.

Future chemists sharpen skills

The year, Chemistry Club was organized by Mr. Carl Torkko. The objective of the club was to give advance chemistry students, who didn't have a class due to levy failure, a chance to work on chemistry experiments and projects.

The co-presidents of the club were John Michalak and Don Kobayashi. Other officers included Mike Purcell, vice-president; Anil Patel, treasurer; Anne Leyde, secretary; and Eric Melander, sergeant-at-arms.

Foreign Exchange: viewing other cultures

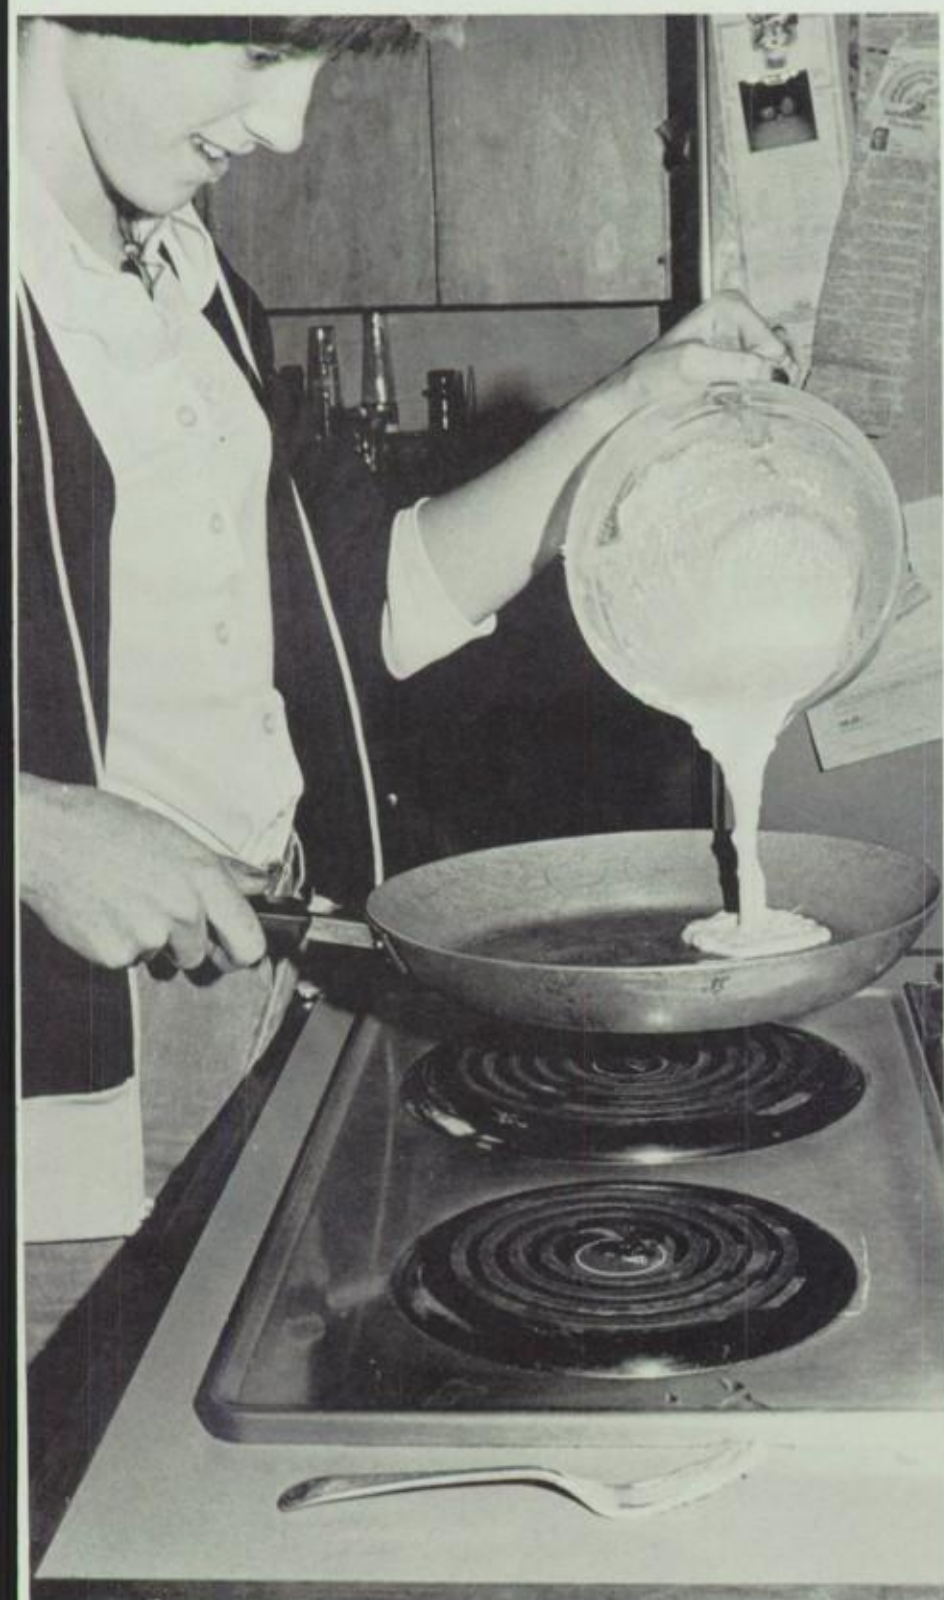

The Foreign Exchange Club focused on getting to know various foreign students, thus gaining an understanding of other countries and cultures.

The club members raised money to send Highline students abroad and to bring overseas students to Highline. Various fund raising activities held during the year were candy sales and retail store inventory work. Other club activities included an international cafe dinner, Laserium visit, roller skating, and exchanges with other schools.

The club officers for the year were Lori Sherlock, president; Margi Richardson, vice-president; Gail Heppenstall, secretary; Tamara Fleener, treasurer; and Doug Langrock, publicity chairman. The club had a very successful year under the direction of Mr. Richard Carter, advisor, and Miss Carol Nightingale, faculty representative.

Foreign exchange students attending Highline this year were Veronique Brestin of France, Birgitta Lindstrom of Sweden, and Maria Theresa S.Thiago of Brazil.

Parlez vous Francais?

French Club was organized again this year by our French teacher, Mrs. Virginia Jackson. Officers were Irene Danysh, president; Kitty Light, vice-resident; Sue Malaspina, secretary; and Lois Carey, treasurer.

The objective of the club, to experience French culture, was pursued through such activities as dining at French restaurants, gourmet dinners at Mrs. Jackson's house, a French Christmas party, selling French foods, and attending French movies.

Choir follows tradition of excellence

Mr. Alan Lund had a very successful third year as director of Highline's vocal music. The levy failure brought a reduction of vocal classes; Mr. Lund, however, has continued the high standard of performance for which Highline is known.

Mr. Lund directed the New Madrigal Singers, Highline's vocal jazz ensemble, every day before school. Concert Choir met first period to rehearse for concerts.

The New Madrigal Singers and the Concert Choir held four concerts this year, one in conjunction with the band, and they travelled to several competitions where they performed successfully.

The choir council was made up of Suzy Ball, Bob Wray, Sheri Smith, Cliff Cross, and Margi Richardson. They were responsible for planning concerts and fund raising events.

And the band played on

This year at Highline three bands were under the direction of Mr. Jim Blake. The Jazz Ensemble met before school while Concert Band and Symphonic Band practiced first and fourth periods. The band council included Jeff Anderson, president; Michelle Ham, vice-president; Tammy Lee, secretary; Ruth Anderson, treasurer; Mark Steelquist, public relations; and Kevin Barrows, historian. Among the many duties of the council were planning fund raising activities, such as a paper drive and selling spook insurance at Halloween and performing for fund raising concerts.

The Symphonic Band and the Jazz Ensemble joined together to form the traditional marching band at the Homecoming game. These talented musicians were led by drum major Ron Ebbers.

Highlight of the year: "She Stoops to Conquer"

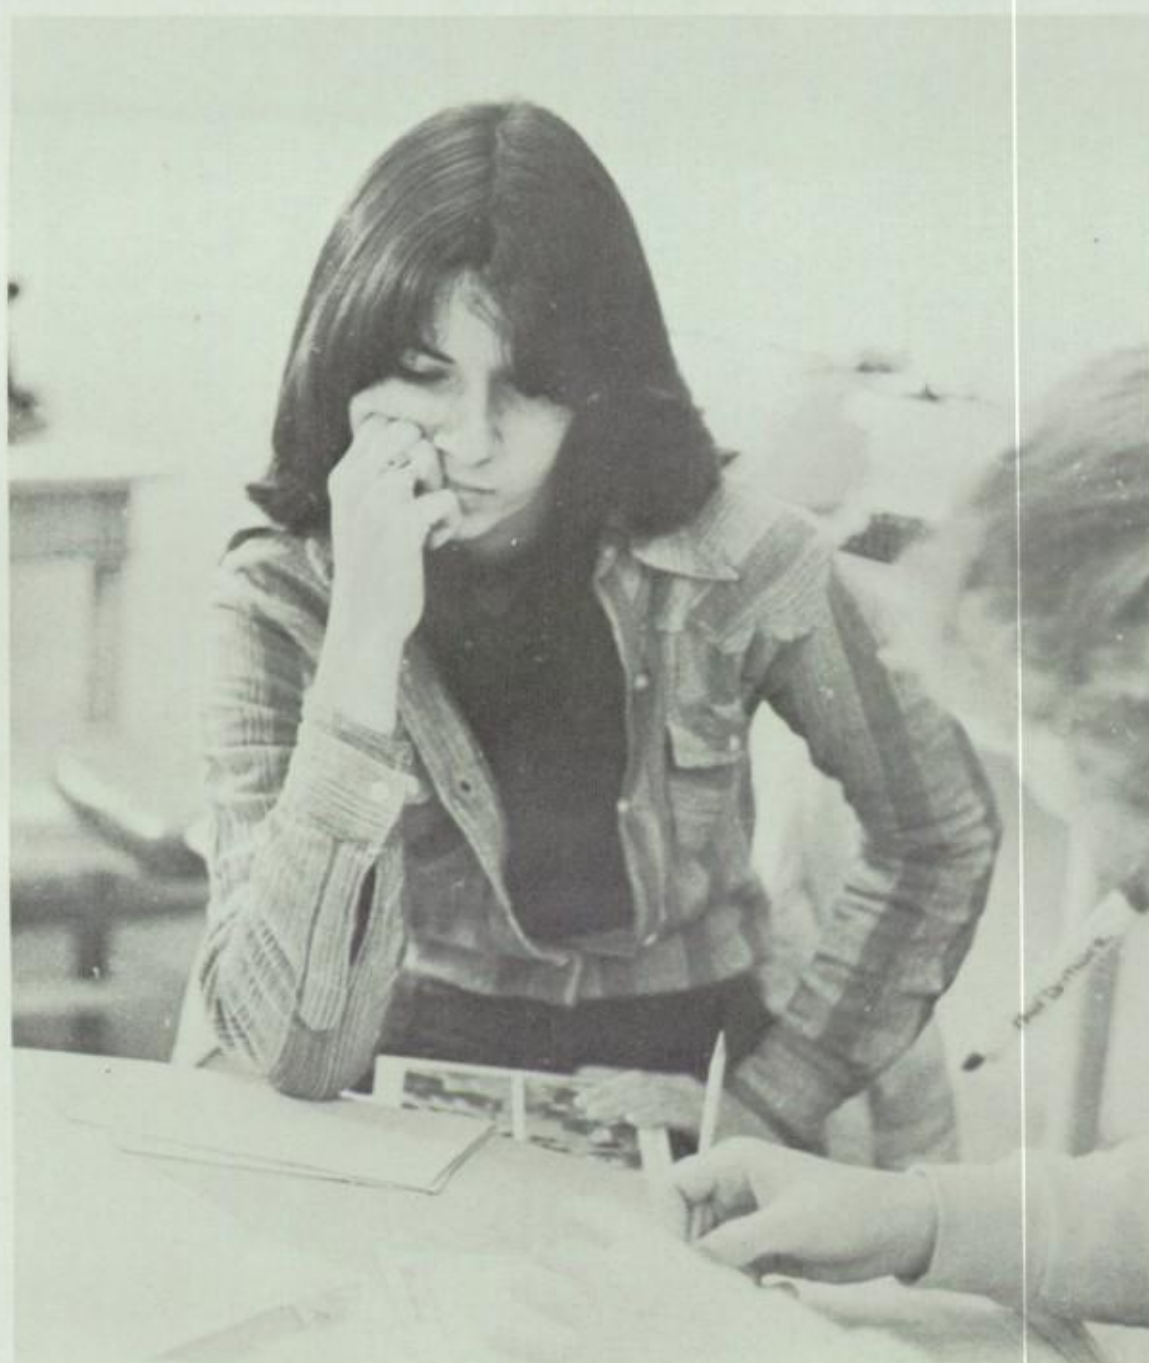

Under the instruction and direction of Mr. Al Reamer, young actors and actresses had a chance to perform for the public this year. Their first presentation was an 18th century farce. "She Stoops to Conquer." The 25 students involved in the cast and crew helped to make the play a success.

The levy failure had a bad effect on the drama program. Years ago there were several classes in various levels and divisions of the dramatic field, but this year the program was reduced to one class after school daily. Acting and stagecraft were taught on alternate days.

Pirate's Log: the year in focus

After a great deal of time and effort, the annual staff, under the supervision of Mr. Al Reamer, produced Highline's 51st yearbook. This year's editor, Grace Reamer, worked many extra hours with the rest of the staff preparing for each deadline.

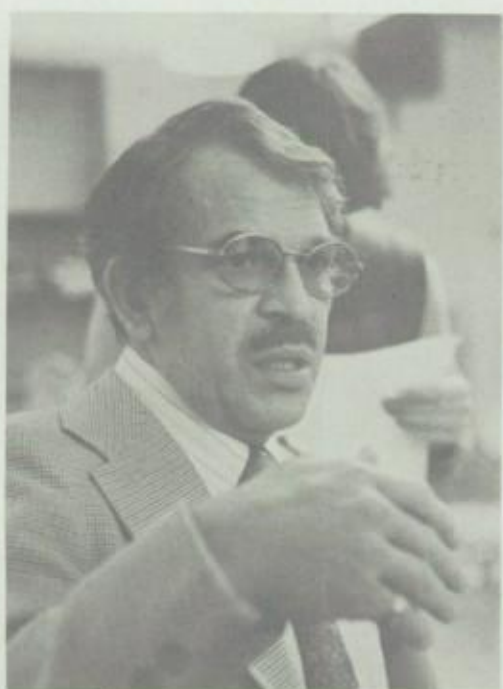

Four different areas of work were involved in putting the annual together. One of these was the copy section, whose staff members, Shari Cowin, Mitzi Norgaard, and Theresa Tanasse were responsible for all written copy.

The photographers included Jon Fujioka, Ed Phernetton, Mike Higgins, Dan Butts, Gordon Hanks, and Brian Malone. These members were responsible for shooting, processing, and printing most of the photographs in the book.

The editor of the layout section was Barbara Beck, who was assisted by staffers Sandy Stipe, Matt Reyes, Allison Apthorp, Greg Hinkle, Jim Gale, Candy Sangl, and Patty Vertrees. These talented people planned the arrangement of photos and copy on each page.

The clerical section kept records of everyone in the school for index and annual sales purposes. Members of this section were Cindy Havens, Cindy Stanley, Susan Boggs-Sorenson, and Melanie Brown.

Working together to produce the annual provided the staff with many opportunities to learn publishing techniques and left them with a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment.

The Helm strives for excellence

Our award winning school newspaper, The Helm, had another extremely successful year. Its success was due to the excellent staff members, editor Dan Satterberg, and advisor Ms. Pat Sullivan. Many hours and much hard work went into each edition of The Helm. To accomplish each edition, the various sections worked together effectively.

The copy section was responsible for researching and interviewing each subject.

Photo editor Dan Christiansen and the photographers were responsible for all the photographs in the paper.

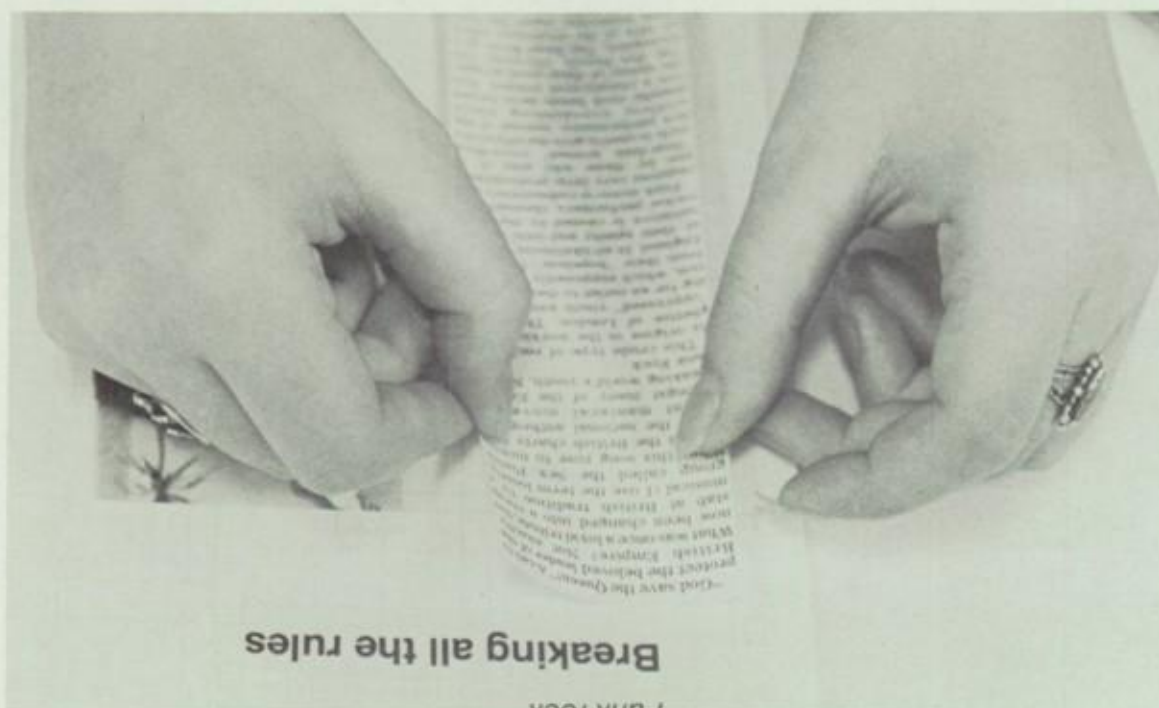

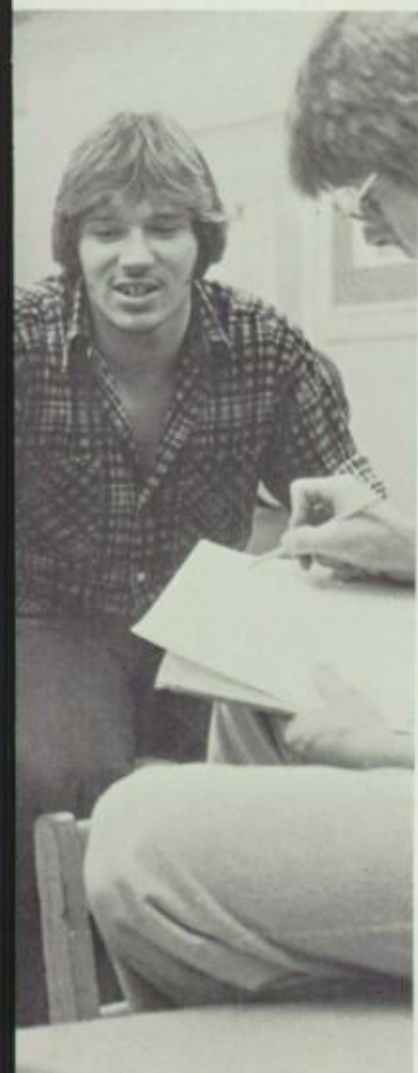

To help finance the paper, financing was necessary. Putting together the compiled articles and advertisements and arranging them in an organized manner was the job of the layout section, whose editor was Darren Gremmert.

The Helm did a fantastic job, keeping the students informed about the surrounding world and the happenings of the year.

OSC: Students graduate with vocational skills

The Occupational Skills Center was introduced to Highline High several years ago and was developed to meet the need for experience in different job skills. A limited number of students from Highline, Federal Way, and South Central school districts participate in this program.

Students may choose from a variety of courses, including Commercial Foods, Medical Assistant, Clerical, Marine Technology, Production Plastics, Commercial Sewing, Dental Assistant, Visual Communications, Cashier Training, and Carpentry.

These classes provide a unique educational opportunity not available in the regular program at Highline.

"Highline Seniors
deserve the best the world
has to offer . . .
We're doing
our part."

Since our opening in 1976, we at Satsuma have been offering you the best in Japanese cuisine. From Japanese-style steaks, Beef Terriyaki, to superbly prepared deep fried shrimp with vegetables, Tempura. A party of four can order Family Style, an assortment of five different foods that will feed four with style.

Life may not bring us this way again,
But memories of days at Highline are those never forgotten.

Though our goals may be uncertain,
Strive for them among the constantly changing patterns of life.

Tread not heavily on the past,
But look to the future
with eager anticipation.
